Aluminum Mediators Seek Meeting

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 3 (AP)—Federal mediators sought today to arrange a resumption of negotiations in the three-day-old strike of the United Steelworkers against the Aluminum Co. of America.

R. W. Donahoe, Philadelphia regional director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, said:

"We are in the process of trying to arrange meetings at the earliest possible date. We hope we can get the negotiations under way soon."

Donahoe said that he and Clyde Mills, assistant director of the mediation service, had been assigned the task.

Speakersman
In Pittsburgh, an Alcoa spokesman said the mediators had proposed that the talks resume in New York City at 10 a.m. Monday.

The spokesman said the date and time were agreeable to Alcoa but company negotiators prefer that the talks be held in Pittsburgh.

Prestrike negotiations were held in New York at the union's request and Alcoa now feels the union should consent to holding the talks at a site acceptable to the company, the company spokesman said.

The steelworkers struck early Wednesday following a breakdown in negotiations for new contracts with Alcoa and Reynolds Metals Co., another aluminum producer. Both contracts expired at midnight Tuesday.

The strike has idled 18,000 steelworkers at 12 Alcoa plants and 10,000 more at nine Reynolds plants.

Alcoa and Reynolds offered the union a three-year contract which they said is similar to the agreement the union had with the basic steel industry for settlement of the steel strike.

The union sought a layoff-pay plan and a wage increase but has not made public the specific wage hike it wants. Under the old contracts, aluminum workers earned an average of $2.22 an hour, including incentive pay but excluding overtime pay.

Earlier
Earlier this week, Alcoa signed a new three-year, no-strike contract with the Aluminum Workers International Union, which represents 15,000 workers at nine Alcoa plants.

The agreement gives AWIU members a 46-cent-an-hour package increase for the three years.

The AWIU is now conducting negotiations at Richmond, Va., for 6,500 of its members who work in 10 Reynolds plants. The SWIU contract with Reynolds is being continued on a day-to-day basis.

Father Divine Levels Suit At Magazine

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 3 (AP)—Father Divine, Negro religious cult leader who claims he is "God," has filed a half-million-dollar damage suit against the Union News Co. on grounds it distributed a magazine that held him "out to public ridicule, scorn and contempt."

Divine, who estimates his followers in the thousands and whose church controls property throughout the world valued in the millions, filed his action in U. S. District Court here.

Charge
The complaint charges Union News with circulating the May, 1956, issue of "Confidential" which contained an article entitled "I was one of Father Divine's Angels" and was signed by Carol Sweet Hunt, not otherwise identified.

30 Horses Saved From Buck Hill Fire

BUCK HILL FALLS—Firemen saved 30 horses from a burning stable at The Inn here last night.

The fire was discovered at about 5:20 p.m. It was apparently caused by spontaneous combustion, fire company officials said.

A loft in the stable was used to store tightly packed bales of hay, firemen said. New hay had been put in the loft earlier this week, a Buck Hill spokesman said.

Firemen led the 30 horses in the stable to safety. They also salvaged all riding tack and equipment from the burning structure without loss.

Volunteers fought the smoldering fire for three hours. In the end it finally became necessary for firemen to remove the bales of hay from the loft so they could be extinguished.

A fire company spokesman explained that the hay was packed so tightly that pouring water on the packed bales did no good—the water failed to penetrate into the burning inside of the bale. So firemen removed bales from the barn, broke them open and put out flames that way.

Horses removed from the stables were housed, temporarily, in an adjoining garage. Amount of damage to the building was not estimated last night.

Observers said, however, that the roof and the hayloft were badly damaged. The interior of the stable was partially destroyed.

It took firemen only a matter of seconds to get the first equipment to the scene of the fire. The Barrett Fire Company trucks are housed on the grounds of The Inn—about 300 feet away from the stables.

Top Steel Firms Ink Pacts

NEW YORK, Aug. 3 (AP)—U. S. Steel and Republic Steel, first and third ranking steel producers in the land, tonight signed strike-ending contracts with the United Steelworkers Union.

Ready to follow suit tonight was Jones and Laughlin, the No. 4 company. Big Bethlehem Steel, which was believed yesterday to be the closest to signing, was still in negotiations at a late hour.

Tonight's signing to all intents and purposes marked the end of the 34-day-old, 650,000-man steel shutdown.

Behind the industry's leaders were more than 30 other firms, large and small, ready to follow suit. Approximately they will sign their union contracts tomorrow.

Three smaller companies had signed before tonight.

U. S. Steel has 186,000 employees; Republic, 46,000; Jones and Laughlin, 28,000, and Bethlehem, 89,000.

The hope was that fires would begin building up again in the vast steel furnaces Monday, with production under way in quantity by the end of next week.

John A. Stephens, industrial relations vice president for U. S. Steel, signed for his company. David J. McDonald, United Steelworkers' president, did the same for the union.

Within moments telegrams began moving to the union's regional leaders all over the country with instructions to standby for back-to-work orders.

Stephens was the chief industry spokesman in the long and protracted negotiations that led to tonight's brief signing ceremony.

The main issues in the strike—a three-year pact and a wage hike—were settled a week ago. The time since has been consumed with hammering out the myriad other details in individual company contracts.

Crucible Steel Co., a major firm, signed last night. Pittsburgh Steel signed today.

A union spokesman had said the companies appeared to be "shooting for" a recall of workers by Monday.

Quickly
In Pittsburgh, U. S. Steel said it will put its facilities into operation as quickly as possible after a contract is signed.

The firm estimated blast furnaces will be in full operation at the end of the second week. Open hearth furnace operations will be at 75 per cent of capacity by the end of the first week and 90 per cent by the end of the two weeks.

From then, on, there will be a relatively slow climb to full capacity, U. S. Steel said.

A Crucible spokesman said in Pittsburgh that some maintenance personnel already were back at work in its four plants. The company's Midland, Pa., plant was expected to begin producing steel in about two days.

At Crucible's Syracuse, N. Y., plant, however, it was said it would be 7 to 10 days before the full force of 3,200 is back at work. Repair work normally done during the vacation period was not completed because of the strike.

Industry and union reached basic agreement on economic issues of a three-year contract last Friday, but have been busy since then on the meticulous task of agreeing on contractual language.

Workers Returning
PITTSBURGH, Aug. 3 (AP)—Giant U. S. Steel Corp., the world's biggest producer, began calling maintenance and production workers back to their jobs tonight a half hour after a strike-ending agreement was signed.

At his news conference, Stassen refused to answer a series of questions as to why he believes Vice President Richard Nixon would "detract" from the Republican ticket if renominated.

He repeated that a private poll indicated the most serious detractor would be Nixon's home state of California and on the West coast, where he said the vice president is best known. He has announced a new poll is now being taken.

Student Sentenced To Four Years

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Aug. 3 (AP)—Gregory M. Delli-Pizzi, University of Maryland medical student convicted earlier this week of manslaughter, was sentenced to four years in prison today, with a hope of parole after 16 months.

An all-male jury on Monday found Delli-Pizzi, 26, guilty of manslaughter in the death of a Pennsylvania metallurgist after a fight in a Baltimore hotel Feb. 16.

Carver, who now is assistant to the president of the Pennsylvania Manufacturers Assn., is being sued by the commission for return of salaries and expenses which the commission says were paid to him illegally while he was a member of the group.

Mrs. Brandt said Carver brought letters and reports for her to type to her apartment at the Rittenhouse-Claridge, an apartment hotel in downtown Philadelphia. She now lives in Tredyffrin Twp., Chester County, state officials said.

Eisenhower Takes Steps To Aid Party

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3 (AP)—President Eisenhower was reported taking concrete steps today to aid down-the-line GOP supporters of his legislative program as a part of his efforts to "rebuild" the Republican party.

In consultation with some Senate candidates before they left Washington for home campaigns, the President was said to have held out the prospect he will give them what personal help he can before the November election.

The candidates understand that this help will be extended through warm endorsements voiced by Eisenhower if his campaign schedule takes him into their states. If he is forced to choose between areas he will visit personally, some of his all-out senatorial backers believe he will pick their states.

Eisenhower told a news conference Wednesday one reason he decided to run again was a belief that the Republican party "needed rebuilding so badly."

Report
Those who talked to the President recently say he has in mind what he has called the "liberalizing" of the party along the "progressive-moderate" line he has laid out in the past.

He has done this in encouraging the Kentucky senatorial bids of former Ambassador John Sherman Cooper and Thurston Morton, former State Department official. Eisenhower is credited with nudging former Secretary of Interior McKay into the Oregon senatorial race and with encouraging Gov. Arthur B. Langlie to run for the Senate in Washington.

Although Eisenhower declined to take sides in a Wisconsin Republican senatorial fight, if Sen. Wiley (R-Wis) wins renomination he can expect some glowing presidential praise for his support in Congress of the Eisenhower program.

As many politicians here view it, the President is doing what he can to build up what might be called the Eisenhower wing of the party in Congress. This is particularly true in the Senate, where only about a score of the 47 Republicans can be counted as all out supporters of his program.

The President's campaigning, however, will be limited by health and other considerations. Eisenhower said his physicians told him at the time of his June operation that he would not regain his full vigor for four months.

Court-Martial
Charges Set
OAKLAND, Calif., Aug. 3 (AP)—Court-martial charges were preferred today against three technical instructors at Parks Air Force Base for reportedly striking trainees in their charge.

The three are Airman 3. C. Richard T. Smith, 20, Omaha, Neb., who was also accused of soliciting and accepting gifts of money from several trainees; Airman 3. C. Dean A. Warren, 19, Omaha; and Airman 2. C. William A. Ott, 22, Selah, Wash.

The President's campaigning, however, will be limited by health and other considerations. Eisenhower said his physicians told him at the time of his June operation that he would not regain his full vigor for four months.

It was the nation's first chance to see the chief executive in a formal TV broadcast since his abdominal surgery. In introducing the President, the President called the Suez Canal of "tremendous importance" and said it was "vital to our economy" as well as that of scores of other nations.

After Dulles completed his 15-minute report, the President congratulated him for his role in arranging the 24-nation conference for international supervision of the canal.

Dulles Pins Suez Hopes On Conference

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3 (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles predicted tonight—in the approving presence of President Eisenhower—that "moral force" will solve the grave Suez Canal crisis without resort to arms.

Speaking from the White House to a nationwide TV-radio audience, to which he was introduced by Eisenhower, Dulles declared the United States has "given no commitments" to use military might.

Instead he pinned his hopes on a 24-nation conference called for Aug. 16 to try to agree on international administration of the canal, which has been seized by premier Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt.

Eisenhower, in his introductory remarks, pronounced himself "vastly disturbed" by the seizure, and Dulles called it an inadmissible "act of vengeance" which must not go unchallenged.

Protection
But the secretary declared any plans for international operation of the vital waterway should protect the legitimate interests of Egypt and assure her a fair income from the use of the canal. He thus appealed, in effect, to Nasser, to sit in on the international conference and go along with its decisions.

The secretary beamed these conciliatory words at Egypt at a time when Great Britain and France are making military preparations in case peaceful means fail. French leaders declared they are getting ready for strong military action if necessary and Britain is calling up thousands of military reservists under a royal proclamation of "great emergency."

Dulles speech tonight was believed to have these two interrelated purposes, among others:

1. To arouse widespread support in this country for the administration policy of confining any action in the Suez crisis to peaceful measures, if at all possible.

2. To induce the British and French to take heed of this American sentiment and follow a policy of calm restraint.

Dulles said that after the canal's seizure there were "some people"—whom he did not name—who counseled "immediate forcible action by the governments which felt themselves most directly affected"—presumably Britain and France.

But he said this would have violated United Nations principles and "would undoubtedly have led to widespread violence, endangering the peace of the world."

Unanswered
Dulles left unanswered the question of what the United States will do if the attempt at international control of the canal fails. He said:

"Now, I've been asked what will we do if the conference fails. My answer to that is that we do not assume the conference will fail. But I can say this: We have given no commitments of any kind as to what the United States will do in that unhappy contingency."

The broadcast by Dulles, who returned only today from Suez Canal talks in London, took place in President Eisenhower's office. Eisenhower suggested that it be beamed from there, thus underscoring his estimation of its importance.

Jury Considering Sentence For Drill Instructor

PARRIS ISLAND, S. C., Aug. 3 (AP)—S. Sgt. Matthew C. McKeon was cleared tonight of manslaughter charges in the April 8 death march that cost six Marines lives. He was found guilty of simply negligence and drinking on duty.

"I feel good, honest to God," the tall 31-year-old drill instructor said moments after the verdict.

The court of seven military officers then withdrew to consider the sentence. Unlike a civilian jury, it is their duty to sentence the defendant.

On the charge of drinking in barracks in violation of a general order McKeon is liable to a maximum two years in prison and a dishonorable discharge.

In acquitting the defendant of the most serious charge, manslaughter, the jury took it upon itself to render instead a verdict of guilty of simple rather than criminal negligence. It amounts to negligent homicide and is punishable by a maximum of a year in prison.

Tears
McKeon's pregnant wife, Betty, 28, broke down and wept at the verdict.

"I just feel stunned," she said.

Defense attorney Emile Zola Berman of New York City told reporters, "I am not appealing anything if this boy is kept in the Corps."

Under the conviction McKeon also is liable to a bad conduct discharge.

Twenty minutes after the verdict was returned, the court was recessed until 9:00 a.m. EDT tomorrow, thus deferring sentence for at least that long.

The prosecutor, Maj. Charles B. Sevier, who conducted the case against McKeon quietly but vigorously, shook hands with McKeon afterwards and told him:

"You just keep going like you have been doing."

The court received the case at 12:37 p.m. After an afternoon of deliberations, they went out for dinner at 5:22 p.m. In midafternoon, it had asked for the more than 40 exhibits in the case—maps, photographs and records.

Law Officer Irving N. Klein, acting as trial judge, handed them over and the court went back into session.

The verdict was announced immediately after the tribunal returned from a 40-minute lunch period.

Arguments
Earlier, defense attorney Emile Zola Berman and Maj. Charles B. Sevier, the prosecutor, had presented closing arguments.

McKeon, tall and sandy-haired, sat immobile, eyes closed during most of the final moments of the most controversial court-martial in 180-years of proud Marine history.

His wife, Betty, sat in the spectators' section, her big, dark eyes fixed almost constantly on her husband. Within two weeks, she expects their third child.

McKeon is being tried under the 1951 Uniform Code of Military Justice, under which the nation's armed services try their own members. The court-martial corresponds to a federal district court in civilian life. The findings of the military court are final, subject to review and appeal. McKeon cannot later be tried in a civilian court for the same offense.

Damage Suits
Mount For
Ship Lines
NEW YORK, Aug. 3 (AP)—Damage suits against the Italian and Swedish Steamship Lines mounted past the two-million-dollar mark today as some survivors of last week's shipwreck set sail again.

"We have full confidence of getting there this time," said John Royce, of Northbrook, Ill., as he and 148 other survivors from the smashed Swedish liner Stockholm left for Europe on another ship.

Outbound
The Stockholm had been out-bound, and the Italian liner Andrea Doria headed for New York, when they crashed in thick fog July 25, sending the Doria to the bottom of the Atlantic.

Twenty-nine passengers aboard the Doria at the time still are unaccounted for, and 20 others dead or missing and presumed dead. Five Stockholm crewmen are dead or presumed dead.

As the Stockholm veterans of disaster confidently left on another Swedish ship, the Kungsholm, the legal repercussions of the accident continued to pile up in court.

Government Files
Trust Suit
WASHINGTON, Aug. 3 (AP)—Atty. Gen. Brownell today announced the filing of an anti-trust suit in Federal District Court in Philadelphia charging the Philadelphia Radio and Television Broadcasters Assn. and nine radio stations with agreeing to maintain rates for sale of broadcasting time in Philadelphia.

Since 1952, the complaint charges, those named in it have been parties to an agreement to maintain published advertising rates for sale of radio time in Philadelphia established by each of the concerns.

Flashing Light Necessary
STROUDSBURG, Aug. 3 (AP)—Municipal officials were put on notice today to equip their snow plows and cinder trucks with at least one flashing emergency lamp to qualify for state inspection.

Poplar Valley Church To Be Painted By Congregation

THE POPLAR VALLEY WSCN met at the social hall Wednesday. A supper for the families of the members preceded the meeting. Mrs. Leon Parcell and Mrs. Paul Albert were hostesses.

Mrs. Ernest Brewer, president, presided at the business meeting. It was announced that the men of the church would paint the building Aug. 11 beginning at 8 a. m. The women decided to serve them a dinner at noon. Anyone wishing to help is invited to do so.

Homecoming

Homecoming services for the church will be held on Aug. 19. Mrs. Paul Albert, chairman of the dinner committee, announced the planned menu. Women wishing to donate to the dinner should contact Mrs. Albert.

The group voted to accept the invitation of the St. Luke's church to place names on their birthday calendar. Proceeds will go directly to the WSCN. Mrs. Norman Dennis and Mrs. Orien Reish were asked to make the collections.

It was decided to make doughnuts in the near future and to clean the inside of the church while the men painted the outside. Mrs. Brewer suggested that artificial palms be purchased for the interior of the church.

Mrs. Paul Albert led the devotions and gave a reading on prayer. Mrs. Orien Reish read the scripture prayer. Mrs. Reish accompanied and Mrs. Clyde Levergood led in the singing.

Attendance

Attending the meeting were Mrs. Clyde Levergood, Mrs. Fred Dennis, Mrs. Wilfred Wagner, Mrs. Elwood Fenner, Miss Joyce Gunn, Mrs. Leon Parcell, Mrs. Paul Albert, Mrs. Ernest Brewer, Mrs. Norman Dennis, Mrs. Orien Reish, Mrs. Thomas Miller.

The September meeting will be held at the social hall with Mrs. Elwood Fenner and Mrs. Donald Beseker the hostesses. An auction will follow the meeting and members are asked to bring articles to be sold.

Sing In Church

DELAWARE WATER GAP—Members of the Waring Workshop Student Group will be singing in the churches of Delaware Water Gap this Sunday morning, part in the Methodist Church and the other part in the Presbyterian.

Rev. Roof To Preach At Area Service

REV. GORMAN ROOF, Presbytery Executive of Lehigh Presbytery, will preach at the 11 a. m. worship service tomorrow in the First Presbyterian Church, Stroudsburg.

Mr. Roof, a native of Pen Argyl, graduated from Lafayette College, Easton, and the Princeton Theological Seminary. He has served pastorates at Phillipsburg, N. J. and Catasauqua. The latter post he held until he became Presbytery Executive in 1955.

In his capacity as Presbytery Executive he coordinates the work of the Presbytery in such ways as working with various committees of Presbytery and acts as adviser to the forty-three churches comprising Presbytery. His residence and office are located in Westminster House at Brainerd Presbyterian Church, Snyder'sville.

Subject

Mr. Roof will preach on the subject, "The Church Faces a New Day." His Scripture lesson will be taken from selected verses of Hebrews.

Mr. Vernon C. Imbt will be at the organ console. A tenor solo, "The Psalmist," will be rendered by Robert L. Wolbert. Mr. Wolbert is soloist with the Lafayette College Choir at Easton, where he will enter his sophomore year in September.

The Pastor of the church, Rev. John A. Bollier, will preach tomorrow morning in the Presbyterian Church, Lake George, N. Y. Mr. Bollier and his family are spending a short time vacationing at Lake George.

On Tuesday at 7 p. m. the men of the church will continue their work on the Church Annex. At 8 p. m., Wednesday, the Board of Trustees will meet.

Subject Set For Church Sermon

DELAWARE WATER GAP—"The Best Reward For Work Well Done" will be the subject of the sermon tomorrow morning by Rev. Luther Elvin Markin, minister of the Presbyterian Church of the Mountain.

Sermon

The sermon will be intended especially for young people and will deal with the problem of becoming an asset to society.

Mr. Clarence Seaman, who for several years has been the organist during the summer, will be the organist tomorrow.

Palmerton, Charles Kruger, Oil City; Marjorie Berger, Allentown; Mrs. Paul Berger, daughter Marjorie; Mrs. Delbert Frable, Gilbert, visited Mrs. Mary Kruger.

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Mayer, Palmerton; Mr. and Mrs. James Custard and children; Mr. and Mrs. William Abek, Wind Gap; were the guests of the ladies' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Amos Johnson.

The local school will reopen the 1956-1957 term with the faculty reporting Tuesday, Sept. 4. The children report Wednesday, Sept. 5. Marjorie Berger, Allentown, weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul C. Berger.

Clinton Craig, Slatington, is vacationing with his grandmother, Mrs. W. E. Andrews.

Rev. Blatt Releases Sermon Topic To Be Delivered At Zion Evangelical, Reformed

CHURCH SCHOOL session will begin at 9:45 a. m. tomorrow. Edgar Hall, general superintendent, will be in charge.

Subject of the message at the morning worship service will be "Believe In The Best."

People have a tendency to accept the second and third values instead of striving for the best available. Paul the Apostle warns against second best things and insists that only the best choices will do in the life of man if he wishes to live up to his true heritage. Minister of the church, Rev. Frank H. Blatt, will bring the message and call attention to the need of making a proper choice constantly.

Senior Choir will sing, directed by Mrs. Dorothy Dunn, and the soloist at the service will be Miss Susan Warner.

Leonard Kranendonk To Sing At East Borough Worship

IN THE SERVICE of Holy Communion which will be observed tomorrow at 11 a. m. in the East Stroudsburg Methodist Church, Leonard Kranendonk, baritone soloist with Waring's Pennsylvanians, will sing two selections. The selections are "How Beautiful Upon the Mountains" by Harder, and the solo in which he was heard in a recent television show with the Pennsylvanians, "The Lord's Prayer" by Malotte.

During the past several Sundays, Rev. Harold C. Eaton, the pastor, has been giving a series of sermons on "The Lord's Prayer" and this Sunday morning will give a brief Communion meditation on the fourth petition of the prayer, "Give Us This Day Our Daily Bread."

At the conclusion of the service the doors of the church will be opened to receive a very fine company of new members. The Sacrament of Christian Baptism will also be observed during the service.

Presentation

Flowers for the day are presented by Mr. and Mrs. Merritt Elenhart in memory of their grandson, Baby McCurdy. The welcome committee for the day will be Mrs. Harry Warrick, Mrs. Clark Stern, Mrs. E. F. Smith and Mrs. Howard S. Eckert. The kindergarten will be staffed tomorrow morning by four young ladies, Misses Ruth Smith, Nancy Miller, Linda Michaels and Carol Shaffer.

Evening service will be held at the home of Mrs. Charles Fisher, RD 1, East Stroudsburg (near Hidden Lake, Bushkill). This service will combine both the joys of the outdoor worship and an opportunity for fellowship—a fellowship "basket picnic" supper will be held at 6 p. m., followed by the worship service at 7 p. m. Transportation will be provided from the rear of the church at 5:30 p. m.

During the service the following new members will be received: Mr. and Mrs. Walter Strauch, Mrs. Carl Pedersen, Mr. and Mrs. William Bordner, Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Stauffer, Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Bruch, Mrs. Alice Fish, Mahlon Serfass, Frank C. Mader, Mrs. Carl Hagerty and Miss Jacqueline Heller. This makes a total of 65 new members since Easter.

The pastor will administer the Sacrament of Infant Baptism at 3 p. m. at the sacred font. The session of the church school and Bible classes will be marked by the observance of Mission Sunday at 9:45 a. m.

Guest Soloist Appearing At Grace Church

MISS BARBARA Benedict, contralto of Syracuse, N. Y., will be the guest soloist at the 8:30 a. m. service tomorrow in Grace Evangelical Lutheran Church, East Stroudsburg.

The services of the talented young lady were obtained by Prof. Carroll R. All, director of music at Grace Church. Miss Benedict is attending the Waring Music Workshop at Shawnee and is a student at Northwestern University in Evanston, Ill. She is also an instrumentalist being accomplished on the double-bass. She will be heard in two selections.

Pastor William F. Wunder will deliver his morning sermon on the theme, "Jesus Paid It All" using Galatians 2:20 as his text: "The Son of God who loved me, and gave Himself for me." Applications of this Pauline Epistle will be drawn for usage in everyday life.

At first reading we may think Jesus was inconsiderate in staying behind when His parents and all others who had come from His home town in Nazareth to Jerusalem were returning. His mother chided Him—mildly—saying they had searched for Him and were grieved.

He, even at an early age, realized that he had a mission on earth, and it was because of the urge to learn more that He went to the temple to talk with older men, not meaning to worry His parents. He thought they would know that He must be about "His Father's business."

When they arrived at home, we are told, "Child waxed strong in spirit, filled with wisdom; and as he grew toward manhood, increasing in height and wisdom, 'in favor with God and man.' As a child He was without sin, as He was when He became a man.

As He is an example to all of us when He became a Man, as a Child His loving obedience should be emphasized to the children in this lesson.

There are many temptations for young people in today's social life. They are invited to cocktail parties; they are bombarded by the airwaves by advertisements of alcoholic beverages, and their school and college associates may ridicule them as "sissies" if they do not follow the customs of their companions.

For them this lesson puts emphasis on temperance. St. Peter, in his first epistle, chapter 4:1, urges: "Inasmuch then as Christ hath suffered for us in the flesh, arm yourselves likewise with the same mind; for he that hath suffered in the flesh hath ceased from sin. That he no longer should live the rest of his time in the flesh to the lusts of men, but to the will of God."

Then Peter writes of the sins of the past that Christians have renounced, suggesting that former companions in reveling, etc., may think it strange and they no longer are friends, and may say evil things about those who have reformed. To guard against temptation, Peter advises Christians to "be sober and watch unto prayer."

"Above all things have fervent charity (love) among yourselves; for charity shall cover the multitude of sins."

"Use hospitality one to another without grudging."

"As every man hath received the gift, even so minister of the same one to another, as good stewards of the manifold grace of God."

I should like to suggest that the young people of the class memorize the following quotations from 2 Peter: 5.

"And besides this, giving all diligence, add to your faith virtue; and to virtue knowledge; and to knowledge temperance, and to temperance patience; and to patience godliness; and to godliness brotherly kindness and to brotherly kindness charity."

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Brewer and children, Phillip and Susan, and Mrs. Fred Dennis spent several days with Mr. and Mrs. Donald Couch and family of Milton, Del. They especially enjoyed clamming and swimming while they were there.

Sunday School Lesson

Scripture—Luke 2:40, 51, 52; 1 Peter 2:13; 4:1-11; Peter 1. By NEWMAN CAMPBELL.

We are told very little about Jesus' childhood and youth in the Bible. St. Luke, however, gives us two lovely pictures of Him as a child, which show Him as a fine, lovable character, popular with people and approved by God. He sought knowledge, in improving His mind by His talks with and questions to the priests in the temple. Later we see Him in His home, obedient to His parents and no doubt helpful to them.

At first reading we may think Jesus was inconsiderate in staying behind when His parents and all others who had come from His home town in Nazareth to Jerusalem were returning. His mother chided Him—mildly—saying they had searched for Him and were grieved.

He, even at an early age, realized that he had a mission on earth, and it was because of the urge to learn more that He went to the temple to talk with older men, not meaning to worry His parents. He thought they would know that He must be about "His Father's business."

This unhappy little fellow is learning an important lesson — tears do not solve problems.

Life brings many difficulties to the average person, often heavy burdens of responsibility, grief, and pain that must be met without compromise.

But there is a wise solution for all of us if we fortify ourselves with qualities that will give courage, faith, and hope in the face of all trouble.

In hours of stress and anxiety, the Christian religion is a rock of refuge. In the Church you will find spiritual strength, guidance, and enduring comfort. Go to God's House and put your trust in Him.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Civil Defense Grows On Work Turned In By Interested Parties

Any American these recent years, looking for a public service job that would tax his strength, his talents, his ingenuity, his patience and his temper, could have done no better than take a position of leadership in the Civil Defense.

Not that Civil Defense—at national, state or local level—has become a snap today. Civil Defense remains a rough and tough proposition for the men and women who are its leaders. One big problem remains the overcoming of general public apathy right down at the local level. The bigger problem remains at Washington, where neither funds, adequate top-level leadership, nor an adequate national program inspiring general confidence has been forthcoming. The Federal Government has yet to fully accept Civil Defense as an all-important part of national defense, for which it must take full responsibility.

Police Association Calls For Assistance From Legislature

The Pennsylvania Chiefs of Police Association has called anew for the Pennsylvania Legislature to back them up in their enforcement of traffic laws and make the Commonwealth's highways and streets far safer than they are now.

The police chiefs urge the Legislature to legalize the use of radar evidence in the enforcement of speed laws. And they ask that the State return to its old system of using two license plates on motor vehicles.

Pennsylvania went back to the one-tag setup during the Korean War to save metal. There's plenty of metal now, but the State hasn't changed back because the issuance of one license plate saves money. It is money saved at the expense of more effective law enforcement. And upon enforcement, more

All of these recent years and months what kind of Civil Defense a local community has depended directly, and still does today, upon the strength and stature of local leadership.

By and large, these past four years, this local leadership has been nothing to beat the drums about, across the Nation. Dedicated, hard-working men, who have made Civil Defense really mean something in their communities, have been few and far between.

Two such men are Judge Fred W. Davis and Paul M. Crown, both leaders in Monroe County. They have worked with all their energy in making the Monroe County setup one of its best in the state.

These two men have also had the assistance of a large number of assistants and workers.

Teamwork was never more apparent than during the recent National alert.

than upon anything else, traffic safety depends.

The use of radar to check highway speeds was first licensed 16 years ago. Since 1950, radar has come into use in every one of the 48 states. But it never has been given unquestioned legal recognition in Pennsylvania. Speeding is generally agreed upon as the major cause of most traffic accidents. Law enforcement officers, it seems to us, should be given every possible weapon to crack down upon speeders. Legalized radar is one of the best.

Both proposals by the police chiefs are not new. That doesn't lessen the need for them. In the interest of traffic safety, for which all laws dealing with drivers are designed, we hope the Legislature acts positively next year.

George Sokolsky Says...

India Newspaper Gives Reason Nations Accept Russian Aid Instead Of U.S. Help

The "Hindustan Times" of India made this point:

"The reason why neutral nations accept Soviet aid is that they need it to speed their development projects. U. S. aid is extended more in terms of military than economic aid, and if economic aid is marked for neutral nations falls far below their requirements it would be preposterous on the part of Nixon or other U. S. leaders to maintain that they should not accept Soviet aid in addition.

"Surely not even Nixon would go to the extent of saying that all aid, any aid, would have strings attached, for that would imply that U. S. aid itself is not above question; but when he speaks that Soviet aid alone should be spurned on this score, neutral nations that stand to benefit by it must claim to be the best judge of their own interests."

Accepting this line of argument as a premise, the question arises: Why should the United States expend more than $1,000,000,000 this year on aid to foreign countries, some of which will go to India? For what reason should American citizens be taxed exorbitantly so that our government can aid India? What precisely is meant by "strings attached"? Do these countries want our money unconditionally? Would they want us to give them aid even to use against us?

The Once Over

Dr. Paul Dudley White, who was top specialist in the treatment of President Eisenhower, is visiting Russia with a group of American heart doctors for the purpose of studying the relationship of varying ways of life to heart troubles. Questions to be answered

In Moscow possibly include: (1) Is standing upside down in speech-making bad for the heart? (2) To what extent does table thumping promote vascular diseases? (3) Is a severe strain put on the heart by taking somebody you despise out rowing in a park, and trying to maintain a broad smile all afternoon? (4) Is Josef Stalin to blame for heart cases in Soviet Russia over the last quarter century and can Russia prove that since he died the U. S. SR. has suffered from nothing worse than prickly heat? (5) Is there anything to the Soviet claim that heart afflictions are capitalistic plots?

—by H. I. Phillips

Moscow is understood to contend that heart diseases in Red countries is something dropped from American airplanes and that, but for imperialism, there would be no vascular afflictions behind the Iron Curtain. Nevertheless to propose that there be a world agreement to ban such exercises as running upstairs with a valise. It will not, however, agree to an inspection of stairs, valises or even hearts. The effect of vodka toasts on the heart will be looked into, we hear, Moscow claiming there is no strain on the ticker up to the eleventh drink.

HAROLD STASSEN SPEAKS I'm a busy little helper; Assistance I supply. And, while folks may not need it, I try and try and try.

Mrs. Alice Morgan, an elderly Rhode Island woman, who is up to the $32,000 mark on "The $64,000 Question" and is startling audiences with her answers to financial questions, asks, "What is money, anyhow, but something passing through your hands on its way to Washington?" ... A department store magnate, a realtor and a banker make up the board considering the transformation of a great area of central Brooklyn which will provide for a new home for the Dodgers. ... What! No magician? ... Would you say Harold Stassen's foot was in the ring? ... It may be true that the circus is through, but Harold is replacing it with a "colossal, stupendous and unparalleled performance of 'The Man on the Flying Trapeze' working without a net. ... A London doctor says that a man can keep his hair from falling out, and even make it grow in thicker, by relaxing. ... It is this sort of announcement which makes us so tense we can't relax. ... Boy and man we have tried everything for baldness: from Glover's mange cure and sassafras root to wire brushes and snake oil, all in vain, and we were just becoming able to drop the whole idea and relax when the London doctor came out with this ridiculous assertion. ... A poll shows more young men own stocks than ever before. ... But they will age faster watching the stock prices, observing the splits and trying to ascertain where they are. ...

Nixon's attacks and slanders on neutrality, China, and the Soviet Union were intended to a great extent as a threat to the countries he visited. They were also designed to sow discord between them and other Asian countries. In choosing Karachi as a platform to assail Nehru, Nixon apparently intended to estrange India and Pakistan to the advantage of the United States.

What utter nonsense! Pakistan and India have been estranged since partition and possibly before. That is why there is partition.

If the sentiment for neutrality is growing in Asia, then it is clear that we shall not purchase friendship on that continent any more than we purchased friendship in Europe, or in Iceland or anywhere. Friendship is not purchasable by money and those who said so when the Marshall Plan was proposed have been proved correct by the course of events.

Then why not keep our money at home and reduce taxes? If countries choose to be neutral between the United States and Soviet Russia, then that is strictly up to those countries and they can enjoy themselves to their hearts' content. Why should we bother?

However, it is impossible for the United States not to note that neutrality is also a Soviet policy, their theory being that those countries which are not for the United States are definitely for Soviet Russia.

Stassen's Attack On Nixon May Be Long Range Move

Washington—Presidential Assistant Harold E. Stassen's lead-bell attempt to short circuit Vice President Richard M. Nixon for renomination may have been aimed not so much at the 1956 political situation as at 1960 when President Eisenhower will be ineligible for the White House.

Admittedly, Stassen found himself politically isolated as soon as he declared at a news conference that he preferred Massachusetts Gov. Christian A. Herter as Mr. Eisenhower's running mate.

For the time being, Washington observers saw Stassen's amazing dereliction as a last-ditch effort of the "dumb Nixon" faction of the GOP. However, the development strongly hints that the Republicans will spend the next four years battling over who will be the successor to Mr. Eisenhower as head of the party.

The President is barred from seeking a third term, ironically enough by a constitutional amendment which was adopted during the Republican controlled 80th Congress.

"This means that a behind-the-scenes struggle will be going on between now and 1960 by rival factions of the party. Mr. Eisenhower himself may be able to hand-pick his own successor but since he cannot be a candidate himself, his political influence may be lessened and an all-out convention fight could occur.

Stassen's blunt disavowal of Nixon could make Harold the rallying point for anti-Nixon forces in the GOP, centered particularly in the East. There have been reports current in Washington that among those disenchanted toward Nixon are, ex-New York Gov. Thomas E. Dewey and Sherman Adams, a top Eisenhower assistant.

On the other hand, Stassen's maverick move is expected to bring him into disfavor with Mr. Eisenhower himself which could jeopardize his possibility of being a 1960 political force.

While Stassen may not be fired, there is a good chance that he will be dropped quietly by the President if Mr. Eisenhower wins a second term in the White House. Stassen assuredly has made potent political enemies and is likely to go any further up the administration ladder.

Meanwhile, Democrats are gleeful about the development as it indirectly underscored their contention that Mr. Eisenhower's health must be a matter of voter concern as long as Nixon holds the vice presidency. For the average man on the street, the entire episode at least added spice to what promised to be a dull, routine Republican convention.

Acclamation Off?—Harold Stassen's offkey note failed to dissuade top Republicans from a plan by which the customary tedious roll call for presidential nomination votes would be dispensed with this year at the San Francisco convention.

National Chairman Leonard Hall and House Republican Leader Joseph Martin, who will preside as convention chairman, are inclined to have Mr. Eisenhower nominated by acclamation.

Their feeling is that from a television viewpoint, roll calls are dreary showmanship and GOP strategists are convinced the nation would be impressed by a show of party unity if the delegates roared their acceptance of Ike for a second term. There is still the possibility that a similar device may be used to renominate Nixon but Stassen's bombshell may have sidetracked this plan.

Actors at the Studio, Cliff added, try to get "inside" their roles "and there isn't anything new about that. Eleanor Duse did it many years ago and so did Barrymore. Great actors do it instinctively. The rest of us have to learn how."

It took Cliff a year to get into the Studio—which costs him nothing. Every couple of weeks they have auditions for 130 or so hopefuls, and three are chosen. At the end of a year, all the winners get together... and from all of them, a final selection of three is made.

The Actors Studio has a membership of about 130 and it could be that the first time it came to many persons' attention was when Marilyn Monroe began visiting there as an observer, presumably to prepare herself for playing one of the Brothers Karamazov. Actually, it's nine years old and probably the most exclusive actors' group in the country; it's much harder to get into, for example, than the Lambs.

The Studio installs in its members so strong an urge to make the role real and believable that they do things as Cliff did when he was tapped for the Crawford movie. He spent as much time as he could in a mental hospital, trying to find out how schizophrenics really behave. My New York

—by Mel Heimer

New York—It is possible that the most mysterious place in all Manhattan is the Actor's Studio situated in an old church on 44th street between Ninth and Tenth avenues. Here is where many of the best actors in the business turn up twice a week at 11 a.m. to continue their never-ending campaign to become more skillful at the art of make-believe—and here, too, is the home of all kinds of myths and legends.

Old-timers sitting around the Lambs club are inclined to hoot at the Actor's Studio, and to lump the Studio members together as crackpots—a hard-to-digest lumping when one considers that such as Marlon Brando, Shelley Winters, et al, go there to study and such as Ella Kazen and Lee Strasberg do the teaching.

The old ones call the Actor's Studio method the "scratch" system, meaning its practitioners are always rubbing their noses, scratching their armpits or pulling at their hair as they act. There is a rumor, too, that the downfall of the United States by bombing is being planned in the old 44th street church.

"I'm maybe not the guy to enter a defense," Cliff Robertson told me today, "but let me do it anyway. I speak as a man who's been a Studio member for three years, and feels he's a lot better actor now than when he began.

"To begin with, there isn't any such thing as a Stanislawski 'live the part' method. Stanislawski was a great theatrical man whose genius created the Moscow Art theatre in Czarist days—but he just took the best ideas from a lot of methods and put them together. There's nothing mysterious about it. At the Studio we just try to learn different ways of becoming good actors. It's simple."

Robertson, a dark-haired, good-looking, intelligent gent from La Jolla, Calif., who was bombed on a tramp steamer at Pearl Harbor and later was shipwrecked off the coast of Sweden, is a good walking ad for the Studio.

He made a sharp impression as the rich young man in the film Picnic and he is now knocking off people's hats playing a schizophrenic in Autumn Leaves with Joan Crawford—who incidentally, made eight or 10 trips to the Actor's Studio not too long ago. Miss Crawford, after 30 years in the business, still wants to see what else she can learn. You can't rap an old pro with ideas like that.

"We do learn at the Studio to use natural mannerisms—but some times we get a black eye because young, eager-beaver non-Studio actors use too many, annoying mannerisms, which are out of place," Cliff said. "The older actors are inclined to snort and say 'Hah—another Actor Studio prodigy'—which the offender isn't one at all."

Actors at the Studio, Cliff added, try to get "inside" their roles "and there isn't anything new about that. Eleanor Duse did it many years ago and so did Barrymore. Great actors do it instinctively. The rest of us have to learn how."

It took Cliff a year to get into the Studio—which costs him nothing. Every couple of weeks they have auditions for 130 or so hopefuls, and three are chosen. At the end of a year, all the winners get together... and from all of them, a final selection of three is made.

The Actors Studio has a membership of about 130 and it could be that the first time it came to many persons' attention was when Marilyn Monroe began visiting there as an observer, presumably to prepare herself for playing one of the Brothers Karamazov. Actually, it's nine years old and probably the most exclusive actors' group in the country; it's much harder to get into, for example, than the Lambs.

The Studio installs in its members so strong an urge to make the role real and believable that they do things as Cliff did when he was tapped for the Crawford movie. He spent as much time as he could in a mental hospital, trying to find out how schizophrenics really behave. How well he succeeded is provided by reports that he's going to star in the movie of Cat on a Hot Tin Roof and also in a production by Andersonville. The Last Hurrah and other proposed productions.

There's No Reason For Confusion

By Jim Riley

In case you our readers have become confused over the various "ways" of late, it might be a good idea to present several lines on the subject today.

The Key-stone Short-way is the proposed super highway to extend from Stroudsburg to Sharon and open a new gateway to the west.

The Thruway is the proposed ultra modern highway system that will take both Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg out of its almost constant traffic jam.

I mentioned these facts because I am an authority on the subject. I've already mixed the two roadways in a headline, as readers of Friday's Daily Record will confirm.

Now let's see—the Shortway?? Oh well, I'll study over the weekend.

Seriously though folks, these two arteries would be the greatest thing to ever strike this area. They would be a shot in the arm like we've never had before and may never receive again.

Ronson Firm Signs Formal Two-Year Contract With Union

Contents Accepted On July 20

UNION and management officials gave formal approval to a new two-year contract at Ronson Corp. of Pennsylvania yesterday afternoon.

The contract's provisions were accepted by the union—Local 1724 International Association of Machinists—on July 20, putting an end to a seven-week strike.

Key personnel at yesterday's contract-signing were Charles E. Beyer, IAM grand lodge representative and Milton Pohl, manager of local Ronson plants.

Counsel

Representing the company at large was Harry Tepper, Ronson general counsel. Local union delegation was headed by Emerson Stanton, business agent, and the negotiations committee.

Among provisions of the new contract: an 18-cent an hour increase in wages spread over the two-year period, half of which goes into effect this year; improved hospital and surgical benefits, vacation and holiday provisions and shift differentials.

Camp To Hold Home Coming

NEW YORK, Aug. 3 (AP) — Oils retreated once more today as the Suez crisis dominated the international scene and touched-off a setback of minor proportions in the stock market.

The market was irregular in the morning but as oils deepened their initial losses the mood became catching and other issues settled back.

Pen Argyl High Names New Teacher

AT A SPECIAL meeting this week, the Pen Argyl Area Joint School Board elected Willard H. Schadel science teacher in the high school.

Schadel has been on the faculty at Pen Argyl for the last several years. He taught at Central Bucks, Doylestown last semester.

Charles Masters, Pen Argyl, was named janitor of the high school. Appointed cooks in the school cafeteria were Mrs. Ray Mutton, Mrs. Walter Davey and Mrs. Emma Duran. Mrs. Clyde Male was named assistant to the cooks.

Agreement

The Pen Argyl Coal and Lumber Co. received a contract to supply coal for the high school. The firm's bid of $10.50 a ton was the lowest of three received. About 100 tons of coal will be required.

The board awarded a contract to install a new dishwasher in the cafeteria to W. F. Dougherty Co., Philadelphia. The company's bid was $1,780, the lowest of three.

Arthur Pennington, treasurer, reported a balance of $1,620.50. The next meeting will be Aug. 27.

County Falls Behind In Blood Quota

FOR THE FIRST TIME since the Red Cross Blood Donor program was inaugurated in Monroe County, blood donors had to be rounded up and taken to the General Hospital to give blood directly in an emergency operation.

The reason was simple: Monroe County had "over-drawn" its account in the Area Blood Bank in Wilkes-Barre. It was the first time that the local community had fallen behind in its quota. During July, the quota was 125 pints of blood and 71 pints were contributed. This deficit of 54 pints meant that instead of having its blood supply replenished each week from the blood bank, the General Hospital was limited to its actual needs.

A chance to make the community's account "solvent" again will be given this Wednesday, August 8, when the mobile blood center will be at the Stroudsburg Presbyterian Church from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. If during this visit the monthly quota of 125 pints is made, the county will return to the 100 per cent of all requirements.

Automatic

In the past, this has been automatic, since Monroe County has been one of the few counties to make its quota consistently. Thanks to contributions given by the Tobyhanna Signal Depot, the county ended the fiscal year with a surplus. However that surplus was cancelled July 1, and with the July visit failing to meet its quota, the county went on short rations.

The result of that failure was dramatic. First came a call from the hospital for blood needed for a woman who was hemorrhaging badly. Blood from the center at Wilkes-Barre was rushed to the hospital by the State Police and arrived in time to save her life.

Later that same day, an emergency operation needed more blood of a certain type. The Red Cross Motor Service made the trip to Wilkes-Barre this time and had to wait until 4 p.m. when the mobile blood unit came in from a visit in the area with the needed blood.

Still later came the third call for blood, and this time the chapter had to round up the donors in person to give blood directly at the hospital.

Problems

Other counties who consistently fall short of their quota have had these problems to face each month. The local chapter, through its blood donor chairman, LeRoy Mikels, and the recruitment committee headed by Jack Pine, is making an intensive drive to see that this month the full quota of 125 pints is met.

"However, it will take the co-operation of all the community," Mikels said last night, in issuing an appeal for donors for the August visit next Wednesday.

Driver Burned As Explosion Rips Truck

A NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J. truck driver — seriously burned when his tank truck exploded early yesterday morning in Stroudsburg — was in "good" condition at General Hospital last night.

John Cramford, 31, sustained first and second degree burns of the arms. He was hurled 30 feet from the top of his tractor-trailer by the force of the blast.

Compound

He had brought a load of liquid compound to Shiffer Bituminous Service storage depot on Storm St., Stroudsburg, from Perth Amboy, N. J. The compound is used in preparing road-surfacing material.

The explosion occurred when Cramford uncoupled the hatch at the top of the tank trailer. Stroudsburg Fire Department was called to the scene by a 12:35 a.m. alarm. Firemen used chemicals to put out a fire caused by the explosion.

Firemen said the compound is transported at a temperature of 300 degrees because it congeals at a lower temperature. The truck-trailer is constructed so that heat is retained within.

Red Cross Plans For Flexibility

NEED FOR FLEXIBILITY in disaster relief was pointed up by J. L. Cohen, Red Cross Disaster Chairman, at the meeting of the Red Cross executive board last night at headquarters. He told of the meeting with Civil Defense after the recent air raid test to evaluate the test and its result.

Intermeshing of disaster services of civil defense and Red Cross, and the possibility that this might be a "fall-out" area rather than an evacuation center were among the problems discussed.

Russell Harmon, vice president, presided at the meeting. Mrs. Arthur Henning water safety chairman, reported that Miss Jini Hess would attend the Red Cross Aquatic School at NYC summer camp at the end of August. She is instructor at the Stroudsburg Playground Pool.

Service

Volunteer service report showed that 68 volunteers had given 700 hours of service during July. Mrs. Walter Dreher, vice chairman, reported. The blood bank required 36 volunteers for 197 hours; the hospital Gray Ladies 39 volunteers for 527 hours; and Nurses Aids, three volunteers 25 hours. Chapter Motor Service had a busy month with 13 trips totalling 429 miles, including trips to Hamburg; Graduate Hospital, Philadelphia and the Wilkes-Barre Blood donor center with volunteers giving 44 hours of service.

Also busy during the month was the home service department where 14 cases were given service and 100 requests not counted as cases. Nine telegrams and 16 long distance calls were made on behalf of service men or their dependents. There were 156 office interviews and 12 meal tickets were issued.

Bangor Woman Dies

BANGOR — Dorothea Houck, 39, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arlington Houck, this borough, died in Monroe County General Hospital, East Stroudsburg, yesterday.

Born in Bangor she had spent her entire life here where she attended borough public schools. She was a member of St. John's Evangelical and Reformed Church, the Ladies Auxiliary of the E. H. Evans Post, 378, American Legion and Dyle Bray Post, 379, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Ill Health

She was admitted to the hospital five weeks ago and had been in ill health several years. Her parents are her sole survivors.

Funeral services will be held Monday at 2 p.m. with Rev. John C. Brumbach officiating. Interment will be made in St. John's Church cemetery, Bangor.

There are only two kinds of Memorial Artists — Designers who plan the work and Craftsmen who complete it. We do both.

SHE SHOWS JETS ARE SAFE TO FLY

SITTING IN A BEAUTY PARLOR, Cincinnati, O., broadcaster Mrs. DelVina Wheelon overheard a conversation that later led her to become the first woman to fly faster than the speed of sound as a passenger. DelVina heard one beauty shop customer complain that she didn't want her son to join the Air Force because "jets are dangerous." This so perturbed DelVina that she got permission to go for a jet ride at the Air Force's Wright-Patterson field in Dayton. She cracked the sonic barrier wide open by whizzing 830 miles an hour. She used that experience as a starting point for a series of broadcasts that proved that jet aircraft are NOT dangerous. She gave her listeners information on such topics as: USAF family life, workings of an air division, Continental Air Defense and what it means, Ground Observer corps and career opportunities in the Air Force. DelVina hopes that those women in that beauty shop heard her programs.

Tips On Staying Young Given By Ruth St. Denis

By HILARY DAVIES
AP Newsfeatures

Women who want to stay young might take a tip from Ruth St. Denis. At 77 she can still stand on her head and exhibits the ability and energy that made her, in her prime, the idol of the critics, who called her "the matchless artist of the dance."

When she enters a room one is aware of her poise and fine carriage; when she talks the usually youthful traits of exuberance and drive are apparent in her personality.

Besides running her dancing school in California she has just undertaken a new project of filming some of her most famous dances, so they will not be lost to posterity, and she still cherishes an ambition "on the grand scale."

Almost the first question any interviewer asks Miss St. Denis is how she keeps so youthful, and it is not merely a flattering opening gambit. Her grace of movement, the stamina that enables her to perform dances she created as a 30-year-old, her clear pink-and-white complexion and bright blue eyes are not the normal attributes of one approaching 80. She explains it, partly, by saying:

"I think creative artists always remain youthful in mind because they are so alive to everything that is going on. They are always in touch."

The physical side of her regime she tends to diminish as "not much," but it is the stiff one of a person who does not intend to lapse into an easy or lazy old age.

At 6:30 every morning she rises, and writes (she has kept a daily journal now for 30 years from 7 to 9 a.m.). Her diet consists of ground beef, lamb chops and tomatoes, with occasional salads as variation. When she is (rarely) "very naughty" she will indulge herself with a cream bun. She is a teetotaler.

Her daily routine takes in at least an hour of yoga, which assists her in rhythmic and controlled breathing, and helps to maintain her posture and to meditate. The exercises include sitting cross-legged on the floor for long periods and standing on the head—which Miss St. Denis can do for a count of 125, and if anyone doubts it she will readily give a demonstration.

"I am a fanatic," she says, as a mischievous twinkle appears in her eye. "People listen to fanatics, don't forget. They must hustle them off to jail afterwards, but they listen first."

Far from landing her in jail, being a fanatic has made Miss St. Denis the leading exponent of the modern dance for more than 50 years, and her influence on the art has been felt around the world.

The movies she is currently making are the first in a series on great contemporary American dancers, and will be distributed to schools, museums and societies. After their completion Miss St. Denis (born Ruth Dennis in Newark, New Jersey) will return to California to work towards the achievement of her ambition, the establishment of a colony for artists.

Just Between Us

The circus wall-paper border is off the walls of my son's room—but the general de-trashing I promised myself didn't proceed according to schedule.

I promised myself that I was going to get a couple of cardboard boxes, take the contents of the closet, the shelves and cabinet, dump them in without even looking and then cart them miles away.

And I honestly tried—the Junior Surveyor set went in with its broken tripod, and all the little bits and pieces that come with an erector set—but then I started scrubbing through the trash boxes retrieving the wheels and joints and pulleys, because you never know. . .

Maybe some little boy would need those pieces for his erector set. And it would be dangerous to dump those bottles that came with the chemistry set. Half-empty as they are and with the labels worn thin, maybe something human or animal might get into them.

Test Political Convention Garb For Heat, Feet, And TV

Women bound for the conventions agree that the ayes will be important. So will the eyes of midday's attire, they further agree. But, party-wise they disagree on what the well-dressed conventioneer will wear.

The "apparel party lines" are partly based on contrasting tastes and needs in the two convention cities, says Ruth Geri Hagy, who will cover the conventions for television and radio networks in both Chicago and San Francisco. Miss Hagy got the definite "dope" from Mrs. Katie Louchheim and Miss Bertha Adkins, respective directors of women's activities for the Democratic and Republican National Committees, when they were her recent guests on ABC-TV's "College Press Conference."

Mrs. Louchheim sums up her platform for Chicago-bound Democratic ladies with: "In planning your wardrobe, think of heat, feet and TV." Addressing the Republican ladies heading for the San Francisco doings, Miss Adkins casts her ballot for the slogan: "Be cool, be comfortable, be confident."

Considering the cities' varying tastes (San Francisco, like New York, favors more "city-wear" clothes than does Chicago), summer climates (Chicago's hotter) and terrain ("Frisco's hillier"), the Adkins-Louchheim costume counsel contains a number of contrasts—and a few similarities.

A fast head-to-toe toggery tour would embrace the following: Hats—Small, (Bi-partisan advice, partly by style, partly to avoid obstructing the convention vision of onlookers or TV cameras).

Jewelry—A minimum (Louchheim). As much as your heart desires, of the "like" jewelry which will be available in San Francisco (Adkins).

Play Pools Need Cleaning; Kids Can Help

By Eleanor Ross
There is a great deal of emphasis on the casual way of summertime living. And it is all wonderful. But for health's sake, let's get a nice balance; let's not get too casual especially when it comes to homemaking.

Added chores
There's no doubt about it, hot weather puts special responsibilities on the woman who has a family to look after. She must see to it that cleanliness prevails during these lazy days, just as it does in winter. Summer usually means much more equipment to cope with and keep in good condition, and something new seems to be added every year.

Now the big thing is the backyard play pool for the youngsters which has become a real boom. One of the things to remember, though, is to keep it clean.

It doesn't have to be washed out every day, of course. But if it is going to be a sanitary, safe place for the children to play, it should certainly be scrubbed clean by the time the water begins to look dirty.

All sorts of debris inevitably finds its way into the outdoor pool—mud from the children's feet, sand from the sandpile, leaves, insects, dust in the air. There's no point in encouraging germs that seem to thrive in a hot, moist atmosphere.

With these thoughts in mind, you will, if you're wise, convince the children that cleaning their pool is pure fun! As a matter of fact, it really is, from their point of view.

A pail of soap or detergent suds and the garden hose to play with—what child would ask for more?

If this cleaning job is done regularly, you'll find that a sponge will remove any film that clings to the plastic. Be sure that all crevices are thoroughly washed, too. If your pool doesn't happen to have a drain outlet that attaches to the hose, then drain the sudsy water out with a piece of old rubber hose that will act as a siphon.

DESPITE its trim, tailored appearance, there's quite a hint of spring in this gray sheer wool dress, good for now under a fur coat, excellent for street wear in more clement weather. The dress is buttoned from neck to hem and has detachable white collar and cuffs. It is seamed from shoulder to hem on either side of the front closing. The long slim line is broken only by the pockets which stand out at the seam and terminate at side back.

Ladylike Look To Go Back To School

By Dorothy Roe
Associated Press Women's Editor

Even the pigtails set will start back to school this fall looking like little girls.

The new mode of feminine frills, so important in adult circles, already has percolated to the grade school crowd, and small glamor girls will look the part when school bells ring.

The new Empire styles are present and accounted for in the back-to-school fashion lineup. Smartest school dresses have high-waisted lines, interest at the top, crisply flaring skirts and feminine detail.

Other style notes of the new season include the Tyrolean influence and the Ivy League look. In the first category are many gay calico prints used in dresses with a nostalgic look evident in such things as lego-mutton sleeves, pinafore details and rickrack braid trim. Dainty skirts and puff-sleeved peasant blouses also will be strong in the school picture again.

The Ivy League look consists of straight skirts, classic blazers, tailored shirts, slim jumpers and back-buckled belts and caps. Fabrics also make news in back-to-school fashions. Cottons used in dresses, blouses and shirts are dark, with much emphasis on stripes—and muted plaids in crease-resistant finishes. In the sweater category, Ogden is the over-all favorite, for a number of reasons—its cashmere look, easy washability and thrifty price.

For grade school girls, full skirts are still in demand, but style-conscious junior high belles are going in for slim lines. Favorite food of summer: Stuffed tomatoes. They look so inviting that they're often offered for company fare. Good for just family, too. One of my sisters fixes cold stuffed tomatoes the easy way. Instead of scooping out the center, she removes a thin slice from the end of each tomato and cuts it in half. On top of each tomato half she piles her stuffing—the sort it is depends on what is in the refrigerator, on the pantry shelf and her whim. Hard-cooked eggs, for instance, are often mashed with mayonnaise and seasoned with salt, pepper and minced fresh chives or dill. These egg-topped tomatoes are likely to go to the table in a nest of green cabbage slaw.

But you can't eat cold foods at every meal in summer. So here's a pleasant way to stuff tomatoes and serve them hot. Tuna fish and cheese sauce go into the tomato hollows and extra cheese sauce accompanies them.

You might serve these hot stuffed tomatoes with baked potatoes, crunchy bread sticks and a salad of sliced cucumber and crisp greens. Or you might serve them on toast with buttered green peas or zucchini squash.

Stuffed Tomatoes with Cheese Sauce

Ingredients: 6 medium-sized tomatoes (about 2 pounds), ½ teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, 1 small onion (finely chopped), 1 can (7 ounces) tuna (drained and flaked), 1½ cups water, ¾ cup instant non-fat dry milk powder, ½ cup flour, 1 teaspoon dry mustard, 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, 4 ounces processed or natural cheddar cheese (grated).

Method: Wash tomatoes; remove a thin slice from bottoms if necessary to have tomatoes stand straight. With a small sharp knife, cut a plug out of stem end; scoop out pulp; place pulp in strainer to drain off seeds and juice. Sprinkle the inside of each hollowed-out tomato with salt; let stand upside down until ready to stuff. Melt butter in 8-inch skillet. Add onion, tuna and drained tomato pulp; do not add seeds. Cook over moderate heat until onions are wilted, stirring occasionally. Pour water into top of double boiler; sprinkle instant nonfat dry milk powder, flour and dry mustard over surface; add Worcestershire sauce. Beat with rotary beater until just blended. Cook over hot (not boiling) water, stirring constantly, until thickened. Add cheese; stir until cheese is melted. Remove from heat. Mix ½ cup of the cheese sauce with tuna mixture; fill hollowed-out tomatoes with mixture. (If there's a little of the filling left over, add it to the cheese sauce). Place stuffed tomatoes in baking dish. Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven until heated through—about 20 minutes. Serve with remaining hot cheese sauce.

Good Nutrition

Note: After the tomatoes have been stuffed, ¼ teaspoon curry powder and 1 tablespoon chili sauce may be stirred into the cheese sauce for piquant flavor.

Instant nonfat dry milk, added to the cheese sauce in the Stuffed Tomato recipe, is a fine product to use in family dishes because it is economical and convenient. Use it in chilled drinks for youngsters; it's especially good in those cold beverages that are flavored with coffee or chocolate.

Friends' Work Group Making Friends Here

The young people in the Work Camp Program of the American Friends Service Committee, who have spent the summer here working on flood rehabilitation at the East Stroudsburg Playgrounds, have also been making friends among local residents.

The group not only devotes the talent of its members to community service but is also self-sustaining. Each member pays his own expenses for the summer. Quarters at the American Legion Home, East Stroudsburg, the group also does its own cooking under the direction of a dietitian.

They have been invited out for several dinners during their stay by church groups and by individuals.

The camp is under the direction of Joseph and Caroline Vlas-kamp of Indianapolis, with Elwood Cronk of Philadelphia as boys' counselor; and Deborah Stashower, Cleveland, girls' counselor; Mary Goodnow, Philadelphia, is dietitian.

Personnel of the work camp come from many sections of the country. There are nine boys and 11 girls. They include Gail Abrahams, New York; Peter Ackerman, New York; Michael Aronoff, Shaker Heights, Ohio; Henry Bird, N. Y.; Mary Coe, Brooklyn; Ellen Edmonds, Andover, Mass.; Robert Hirsch, Jenkintown; Corinda King, Philadelphia; Karen Kurzbach, New York; Katherine Nicely, New York; Jacqueline Parker, Great Neck, N. Y.; Lewis Rush, Ashboro, N. C.; Barbara Tenney, Milton Mass.; Ingeborg Walker, Oxnard, Cal.; Gregory Hale, Geauga Lake, Ohio; Stuart Duboff, Laurelton, N. Y.; and William Briggs, Philadelphia.

Two Scouting Organizations Presented Initial Charters

CHARTERS were presented Thursday night to Scout Troop and Explorer Post 82 at Middle Smithfield Presbyterian Church.

John Baynor, chairman of the troop committee, accepted the charters from Francis B. McGarry, chairman of organization and extension, Pocono District, and Victor Hoehe, district commissioner.

Boys registered with Troop 82 are: Donald R. Griffin, Arthur H. Mink, Joseph J. Petrizzo, J. Herbert Prechtel, Terry D. Predmore, H. Hall Riediger, David C. Squires, and James M. Tollison.

Explorers in Post 82 are: T. Gary Cortwright, Walter W. Elwine, Donald Hoover, George R. J. Kukan, Ralph P. Muller, Michael Munch, Anton Prechtel, Edward T. Regina and John W. Regina.

Post 82 was organized this year. It received its first charter this week. Hoehe outlined the objectives of the explorer program and listed coming events for the year. An explorer post consists of boys 14 years old or over. It provides a much more rugged program in training. An important phase of explorer scouting is community service and Post 82 has been working for some time on the plan for equipping and manning a disaster unit for the local community.

Adults associated as advisers are: Wendell Wicks, institutional representative; Alvin DeWitt Jr., committee chairman with Ernest George and Ernest Booth as members of committee. Raymond O. Miller is post adviser.

Members of Troop 82 committee are Donald Smith and Arthur M. Mink. John H. Richards is the Scoutmaster. The program was attended by parents, leaders and committee members.

State Police To Abolish Ranks Of Detective, Detective Sergeant Under New Evaluation

HARRISBURG, Aug. 3 (AP) — The rank of detective and detective sergeant will be eliminated under the new Pennsylvania state police job evaluation and classification program.

Lt. Col. A. F. Dahlstrom, deputy commissioner, said however, elimination of the ranks does not mean any salary cut for any personnel or removal of any personnel.

"There is no salary cut for anyone in the state police contemplated under this program," Dahlstrom declared. He added that salary schedules have been made available to troopers in all of the state's barracks.

Dahlstrom said that elimination of the former detective ranks changes the classification of some troopers. Under the old system a detective got the same salary as a sergeant. A detective sergeant got the same salary as a first sergeant. Under the reclassification former detectives will get the same pay as a corporal while a former detective sergeant will get the same pay as a sergeant.

"The salary scale for both corporal and sergeant under the new program is higher than sergeant and first sergeant under the old scale," Dahlstrom said.

He added there had been some confusion as to salaries because of the classification changes.

Mr. and Mrs. Haviland Heller entertained the Crusader Class of St. John's Lutheran Sunday School at their home July 27. A business meeting was held on the patio.

Mrs. Beatrice Swink presiding. Members responded to roll call with Bible verses.

A discussion was held concerning the possibility of the class sponsoring a project to have new lighting fixtures installed in the church.

Claude Cyphers, Robert Field and Haviland Heller were appointed to the committee to get suggestions and prices of fixtures.

Robert Field and Haviland Heller were named to undertake a minor project.

Plans were made for the annual corn and hot dog roast to be held on the parish house lawn, August 23, at 8 p. m. In event of rain the roast will be held in the parish house. Members and friends of the church and Sunday school are invited to attend. Haviland Heller

Contracts Awarded For Five Bridges

STATE Highway Department awarded contracts for five more bridges in Monroe County yesterday. All five bridges were wiped out by flood waters a year ago.

Location Diehl and Lick, Weissport, was awarded the contract for construction of two bridges over Pocono Creek on a bid of $141,168. One of the bridges is located on Bridge St.; the second is near Shater's Schoolhouse on the connecting road between Routes 209 and 611.

Worthington Construction Co., Line Lexington, won the contract for construction of two bridges near the Pocono-Paradise township line over a tributary to Anasimink Creek and one bridge over Swiftwater Creek in that area. Amount of the contract was $51,600.

and Robert Field were appointed to purchase and roast the corn. Mrs. Joseph Dunbar was named to secure hot dogs and rolls. All Crusaders are requested to contribute a gallon of beverage.

Chaplain Haviland Heller conducted a Bible study based on the seventeenth chapter of the book of Acts.

Following devotions a hot dog roast was held.

DOUG SCHOONOVER's plan of preparing this year's Stroudsburg-Barrett Babe Ruth League underlings for All-Star roles next season is making progress in a big way.

Last Wednesday, Schoonover, with the help of brother John, sent 18 boys through their paces at Gordon Giffels Field and the result from the initial workout was heartwarming.

The boys, all in the 14-year-old bracket, were given instruction in plain fundamentals—batting, fielding, baserunning, pickoff plays and pitching.

Schoonover, it seems, has hit on the right track in helping promote baseball on a better scale in the Stroudsburg area. There is no doubt the results will magnify by the spring of 1957.

The selection of the nicknamed Babe Ruth "B" team was started by Schoonover with the help of every manager in the six-team circuit. While the roster is now at 21, Schoonover plans to add more boys to the group before too long.

Doug, who is commissioner of the Stroudsburg-Barrett loop, has named John Whitehead, Stroudsburg High football coach, as manager of the aspiring outfit.

While watching them go through some of their drills the other night, this writer came away with the feeling that Doug Schoonover has something. You could see it identified on the faces of each boy as he "gave out" on every play.

Dave Nevil, one of the Stroudsburg mainstays this year, will be among 50 candidates to report to Bill Leckony when the Lehigh football coach gets his 1956 varsity together Aug. 30 at Bethlehem.

Nevil, one of the better athletes to come out of Stroudsburg High School, was a highly regarded end on the Engineers' frosh eleven last season. However, this year, it has been reported, that Leckony plans to work the ex-Mountaineer star into a tackle or defensive center post.

The reason for the switch, Bethlehemites report, is because of the overabundance of twilight flankmen returning this year.

The over-all picture at Lehigh is bright. Only two regulars were lost from a team that compiled a 7-2 record in 1955. Of the group returning, 16 are lettermen, including one of the East's top passers in quarterback Dan Nolan. The 50-man squad will have 20 sophomores seeking varsity berths.

Jack Kist, East Stroudsburg High's head football coach, is just itching for the 1956 grid season to get under way. Jack is willing away the time this summer getting the high school in shape for the 1956-57 year.

However, in between school chores, Kist can be seen working out plays and aligning "characters" on paper with the firm hope of perfecting Cavalier movements on the striped-field.

Wins AA Honors
CAMDEN, N. J., Aug. 3 (P)—L. W. Evans, Syracuse, N. Y., won class AA honors today in the eastern zone trapshooting championships held over the Pine Valley Gun Club. Evans broke 198 of 200 single 16-yard targets, nicking his last 100 targets without a miss.

Twin City Drops Opener In KASA State Classic

Kelly's Grand Slam Stops Locals 4-3 Before Good Crowd

WOODY KELLY'S grand slam homer in the fourth inning bolted 772nd Air Force Group of Claysburg, Pa., to a 4-3 victory over Stroudsburg's Twin City TV in the opening game of the 1956 Keystone Amateur Softball Association Class A Tournament at Gordon Giffels Field last night.

Kelly's blast, a wallop to deep left center, cleared the bases after the Air Force team put together three hits. AF also added another safety after the 4-ply belt for five during the frame—their entire production for the whole contest.

Twin City outlived the Altoona suburban service team, seven to five, and held a 1-0 edge before Kelly shot his team ahead 4-1. Twin City came back with a pair in the sixth but couldn't muster enough power to overcome the visitors.

Baleik Stars
TC's Steve Baleik just missed taking starring honors, clouting a solo homer to give his mates the early lead and belting a two-run triple in the sixth to get Twin City back in the game.

Stan Tchorz hurred all the way for Twin City, striking out seven and walking two. Jim Ratcliff went the distance for 772, whiffing one and passing two.

Baleik, with his two extra base blows, and Dick Trane's two singles led the Twin City attack. The fielding gem of the game was a glove hand, diving stop, of a grounder by the Air Force's shortstop Giles and his toss to second for a force out.

In another game, Allentown Pioneers edged Jim Thorpe, winners of the recent district tournament, 8-7. Allentown put over two runs in the last inning to pull out the win. Dick Held gained the mound verdict for the Pioneers, while Stan Guth was charged with the loss.

Today's Start Off
Three games are set this morning to start off the runoffs today. The first game, slated for Giffels Field at 8:30 a.m., finds Bethlehem meeting Tamaqua. At 9 a.m. at Stroudsburg playground field, 772 Air Force will take on Harrisburg. At 10 a.m. at Giffels Field, Twin City will meet Jim Thorpe.

The remainder of the slate will continue with teams in the losing bracket facing each other and the winning bracket teams squaring off in the other contests.

Highlights
Stroudsburg Burgess Hal H. Harris got the tournament under way when he tossed out the first ball. Other officials participating in the pre-classic ceremonies were Joe Whalen, Monroe County Softball League president; Forrest Fabel, county softball commissioner; Carl Greco, KASA president from Allentown; Fritz Bader, KASA secretary from Allentown.

The 772 Air Force Group presented a rarity in baseball when lefthanded catcher Booth handled the slants of Ratcliff. Booth also is not superstitious, wearing a big 13 on the back of his uniform.

The crowd numbered in the neighborhood of 200 for the first game, which was good considering the early starting time and Friday Night shopping prevailing.

The tournament will run all day, starting at 8:30 a.m. and continuing through night tilts at Gordon Giffels. Some of today's games are slated for Stroudsburg Playground Field.

Giants Split Doublebill With Bruins
NEW YORK, Aug. 3 (P)—The Chicago Cubs, shut out on two hits by Dick Littlefield before he was lifted for a pinch hitter in the eighth, tagged reliever Marv Grissom for a triple, sacrifice fly and Dee Fondy's home run in the ninth to beat the New York Giants 2-0 and split a two-night doubleheader tonight.

The last-place Giants took the opener 7-1 with four home runs, two by Foster Castelman, with Jim Hearn winning his fourth with a four-hitter and gaining his first complete game since May 1, when he also beat the Cubs.

Kunkletown Nine To Hold Picnic
KUNKLETOWN—Kunkletown's team of the Pocono Mountain League will hold a picnic tomorrow following its game with Barrett here.

Families and friends of the players will attend the affair at the Kunkletown Church grounds. The Ben-Salem Band will entertain and a cakewalk will highlight the fete.

OUT BY A STEP—Novak, 772 Air Force Group player, is out by a step in action in the Keystone Amateur Softball Tournament last night. Twin City TV's first baseman, Bill Crooks, gobbles up the low throw from shortstop Ray O'Melko just in time to get the fleet-footed Novak. However, the Air Force team from Altoona edged Twin City 4-3 in the classic inaugural.

Curt Simmons Stops Reds In Phil Win
PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 3 (P)—Lefty Curt Simmons took another big step along the comeback trail tonight as he set down the pennant-conscious Cincinnati Reds before 28,607 at Connie Mack Stadium. Six hits, including a two-run triple by Willie Jones in a four-run third inning, paved the way for a 6-3 triumph by the Philadelphia Phillies.

Simmons offered more solid proof that he has recovered from his sore-arm troubles as he captured his fifth straight victory and sixth of his last seven starts.

Pierce Posts 17th As Sox Maul Orioles
CHICAGO, Ill., Aug. 3 (P)—The Chicago White Sox exploded for 11 runs in the first inning tonight to make it an easy matter for southpaw Billy Pierce to score his 17th victory of the year. The final score was 13 to 3 as Pierce beat the Baltimore Orioles for the 12th consecutive time.

Pierce, now the leading pitcher in the majors, allowed only four hits after the first inning when Gus Triandos homered.

Lemon Triple Defeats A's For Senators
KANSAS CITY, Aug. 3 (P)—Jim Lemon tripled in the 11th inning to send home Pedro Ramos with the winning run tonight as the Washington Nationals defeated the Kansas City Athletics 2-1 in the opener of a three-game series.

Varsity 'S' Tag Day On
THE FIRST TAG DAY of the Varsity "S" Association of Stroudsburg will be held all day today. Youngsters and member of the "S" organization will be stationed at various points in the borough with containers for donations.

Funds derived from the Tag Day will go toward financing the football training camp project for the Stroudsburg High varsity grid team. The "S" group is sponsoring the Mountaineers' week-end camp at Sun Mountain Camp, Shawnee.

Battles For Runoff Berths Feature PML Play Tomorrow

BATTLES FOR COVETED berths in the playoffs will feature the next to last week of play in the Pocono Mountain League tomorrow.

Five games are scheduled with crucial tilts on tap at three diamonds. The "big" skirmishes find the regular season kings Strouds traveling to fourth place Bushkill, fifth place Lake Harmony and sixth place Saylorsburg, and second place Lake Harmony hosting cellar-dwelling West End A. C.

The other contests are Barrett at Kunkletown and Tannersville at Anolomink at Gordon Giffels Field.

Standings
Following the Strouds who clinched the pennant with a 15-1 record are Lake Harmony with a 9-4 log, Saylorsburg, four percentage points away from Lake Harmony with 11-5; Bushkill with 10-6; Reiders, just out of the first division with 9-6; Kunkletown, 6-9; Barrett, 5-11; Tannersville, 4-9; Anolomink, 4-12; and West End, 3-13.

Bushkill must keep winning to keep ahead of Reiders and gain a spot among the first four. Saylorsburg, on the other hand, has a chance to pull into second if, by chance, Lake Harmony falters.

Probable Pitchers
Strouds (Jacobsen or Radler) at Bushkill (Curt or Dick Hickman).

West End A. C. (Burkett) at Lake Harmony (Sipple or Arner).

Tannersville (Seip) at Anolomink (Correll or Woodling).

Barrett (Price or Kropp) at Kunkletown (Kresge).

Saylorsburg (B. Bonser) at Reiders (J. Bonser or Harshorn).

CHICAGO, Aug. 3 (P)—Dick Mayer traveled through the soggy and gloomy for his second straight 69 today to take the second-round lead of the All-American Golf Tournament from early finisher Julius Boros.

Nearly four hours after Boros had raced a rain storm through the last hole for a snug 33-34-67 and 36-hole tally of 133, the handsome 33-year-old Mayer unloaded birdies on two of the final four holes.

The great sport by the St. Petersburg, Fla., pro gave him a card of 35-34-69, duplicating his opening round for a 138 aggregate—six under Tam O'Shanter's regulation.

Patty Berg moved into a tie with Kathy Cornelius, the recent U. S. Women's Open champion, for the women's pro lead with a sizzling 72 despite a closing double bogey 6. Mrs. Cornelius had a fine 74. They were locked at 151-one stroke under the women's par.

U. S. Takes Lead
RVE, N. Y., Aug. 3 (P)—Davis Cup veterans Vic Seixas and Hamilton Richardson swept to almost identical straight-set singles victories today to send the United States into a 2-0 lead over Mexico in the American Zone tennis final.

Bushkill Theater

'Anna Christie' Production Praised

By Leonard Randolph

BUSHKILL—Of all American dramatists Eugene O'Neill stands alone in the eyes of the world. For more than any other U. S. playwright, O'Neill came closer to establishing a theatre of his own.

Strong and sure, Eugene O'Neill's mind has left its probing imprint on theatrical writing as a whole. The man who went on to win the Nobel Prize and strike awe in aspiring playwrights was a full-blooded, triumphantly cerebral writer who never backed away from a symbol when he saw it. It is this willing involvement with symbolism which has driven many otherwise serious drama lovers away from O'Neill.

To some degree this turning of the backs may be justified. Some people do not like to think when they go to the theatre. To these luckless souls the doors of a theatre are supposed to represent the all-powerful elixir which clears away pain, dulls the stupidity of an insipid daily life, adds glamor and sparkle to an otherwise out-directed routine existence. They care little for the content of a play so long as it has nothing to say. O'Neill is definitely not for them.

Because he was a man with a mind who was not afraid to use it or grant that his audience had a similar intelligence, it is always encouraging to have O'Neill around. Especially in Summer stock.

This week, at Bushkill Summer Theatre, the play is "Anna Christie." "Anna" was one of O'Neill's early plays. But it contains solid prophecies of the world O'Neill was eventually to create around himself for the stage. The play will be given its final performance tomorrow (Sunday) night. I urge you to see it.

Quarrel
This is by no means an unqualified endorsement of the Bushkill production. I have one very decided quarrel with the play as it is now being done.

I caught Thursday night's performance, the first one I was able to see this week. This meant that the actors had gone past their opening night—supposedly the big hurdle in any stock production. Most of them had made the hurdle nicely.

Art Smith appears as the old Swede, Anna's father. He has done the part several times before and, by now, he has refined his characterization down to a fine point of strength and beauty. It is a strikingly convincing and honest piece of acting and I thought Smith was wonderful.

The second dominant characterization in the play is being given by Vic Bernard. As "Matt Burke," the brutish-gentle coal stoker, Bernard literally takes over the stage in his scenes and makes it his own.

In his hands "Matt" becomes almost precisely what O'Neill intended him to be—the common, faithful, physically dominating man who believes that the thing he himself has never touched is pure and good.

A third strong point of the production is Gladys Luxor's sensitively-drawn portrait of the alcoholic barge tramp "Marthy." Miss Luxor has one key scene, in which she meets "Anna," the prostitute-daughter of the old Swede with whom "Marthy" has lived on his coal barge. She makes the absolute most of that one scene.

But "Anna Christie" is a play about a woman and the incisive probing it does is centered mostly in "Anna's" character. Carol Kramer plays the leading role in the Bushkill production. Miss Kramer is easy to look at, charming and fittingly effective in the more emotional scenes. Good looks and good figure do not, unfortunately, make a good "Anna," however.

Supporting Actors
Thursday night Miss Kramer seemed to me, in most of the scenes, to have only an occasional understanding of what O'Neill intended "Anna" to be about. If the understanding was there, it was not projected. In one scene, in which she tells her father about her off-color past, "Anna" came briefly to life in more than two dimensions. Other than that Miss Kramer's characterization was repetitiously played on one plane, glib and unbalancing most of the time but singularly unfeeling for all that.

The supporting actors—Sam Lee, Al Schulze, Manner Hubert and Marve Ullme—have little to do in this play for O'Neill has cast all of his conflict and message in the four central characters (including "Marthy"). They did very well, I thought.

If "Anna" is the heroine of this O'Neill drama, the "hero" is never seen. The chief protagonist (or antagonist, in the Swede's eyes) is The Sea. Murmuring, shifting and throwing out its endless prisons of fog, the sea is Fate in its greatest, most engulfing form. Like the shroud of God it is an all-encompassing entity, covering the good and bad in Man and Nature. O'Neill's symbol is stronger and more believable simply because its voice whispers and slides noiselessly through the space surrounding his play and does not intrude concretely upon the illusion that is Man-kind on stage.

The Daily Record Tour Guide

A weekly feature of places to go and things to see in the beautiful Pocono Mountains area.

THE DELAWARE RIVER now bordered by summer camps and beaches once was the main highway for raftsmen. Until about 1884 large quantities of logs, sawed timber, etc., were made into rafts and run down the streams to Philadelphia. There were changing points for steersmen all along the Delaware as it was thought impossible that one man could possess a knowledge of all the points on the entire course of the river. This led to the establishment of many of the first inns and houses for travelers along the waterways of the Poconos.

Visiting Hikers In Area Would Do Well To Remember 'Walking Purchase' Penn Made

TIERED HIKERS trudging along would do well to remember the Pocono highways and trails, particularly in the Marshalls Creek area. The motives are not worthy of admiration, but the physical feat certainly is.

The region around the Delaware River was the main, if not the sole cause, of the great Indian wars and atrocities that drenched the state in blood in its early days.

The Pocono region was first occupied by the Minsi or Lenni-Lenape Indians who lived in the region of the Delaware River and who were often called the Delawares. Their hunting grounds were constantly encroached upon by the Iroquois or Five-Nation Confederacy (Senecas, Mohawks, Onondagas, Oneidas, and Cayugas, later joined by the Tuscaroras). This group which sought domination of all Indian tribes, brought the Delawares into subjection and took away their right to dispose of land, or so the Iroquois contended. William Penn made some arrangement with the Iroquois for land stretching to the area of the Blue, Kittatinny, or Endless mountains, but the details were never clear. Thomas Penn, his son, later claimed possession of a deed dating back to 1686 for a parcel of land laid out from a point on the Delaware river westward to Neshauney creek, then in to the woods as far as a man can go in a day and a half, and then back the river to the starting point. The objections of the Delawares being overcome, the Proprietary Government and Penn set out to measure the land.

Indians

The Delawares supposed that the walk would be the ordinary days journey with customary pauses for rest and refreshment. But Penn had other plans. He hired athletes to make the walk and had them make a preliminary journey to find the shortest and easiest route, and to mark the trail. In addition he offered a reward of five pounds in money and 500 acres of land to the man who would walk the farthest in the allotted time of a day and a half.

Marshalls Creek, which rises in Middle Smithfield Township and flows southeast into Broadheads Creek is named after Marshall, the man who finished the walk by walking in one and a half days from Wrightstown in Bucks County to the foot of the Delaware, to cover more than twice the area the Indians thought a man could travel.

The Indians never forgave Marshall for what they claimed was a "run" instead of a walk. They followed and persecuted him as long as he lived. In 1757 a party of Indians attacked his home while he was away, killing part of his family. Marshall himself escaped the wrath of the Indians and lived to be 90 years old. His great feat of walking some sixty-five miles in one and a half days has caused his name to live in history.

Tanneries Built In Local Area

ONE of the first tanneries in the area was built at Buttermilk Falls, opposite the present Willow Dell House, by Francis Erwin in 1831.

The early tanning of skins of animals was done by a home process probably learned from the Indians.

From six to nine months was required to tan a hide; the leather being made into boots and shoes by either the father of the family, or by itinerant shoemakers.

Art Gallery Is Open To Public

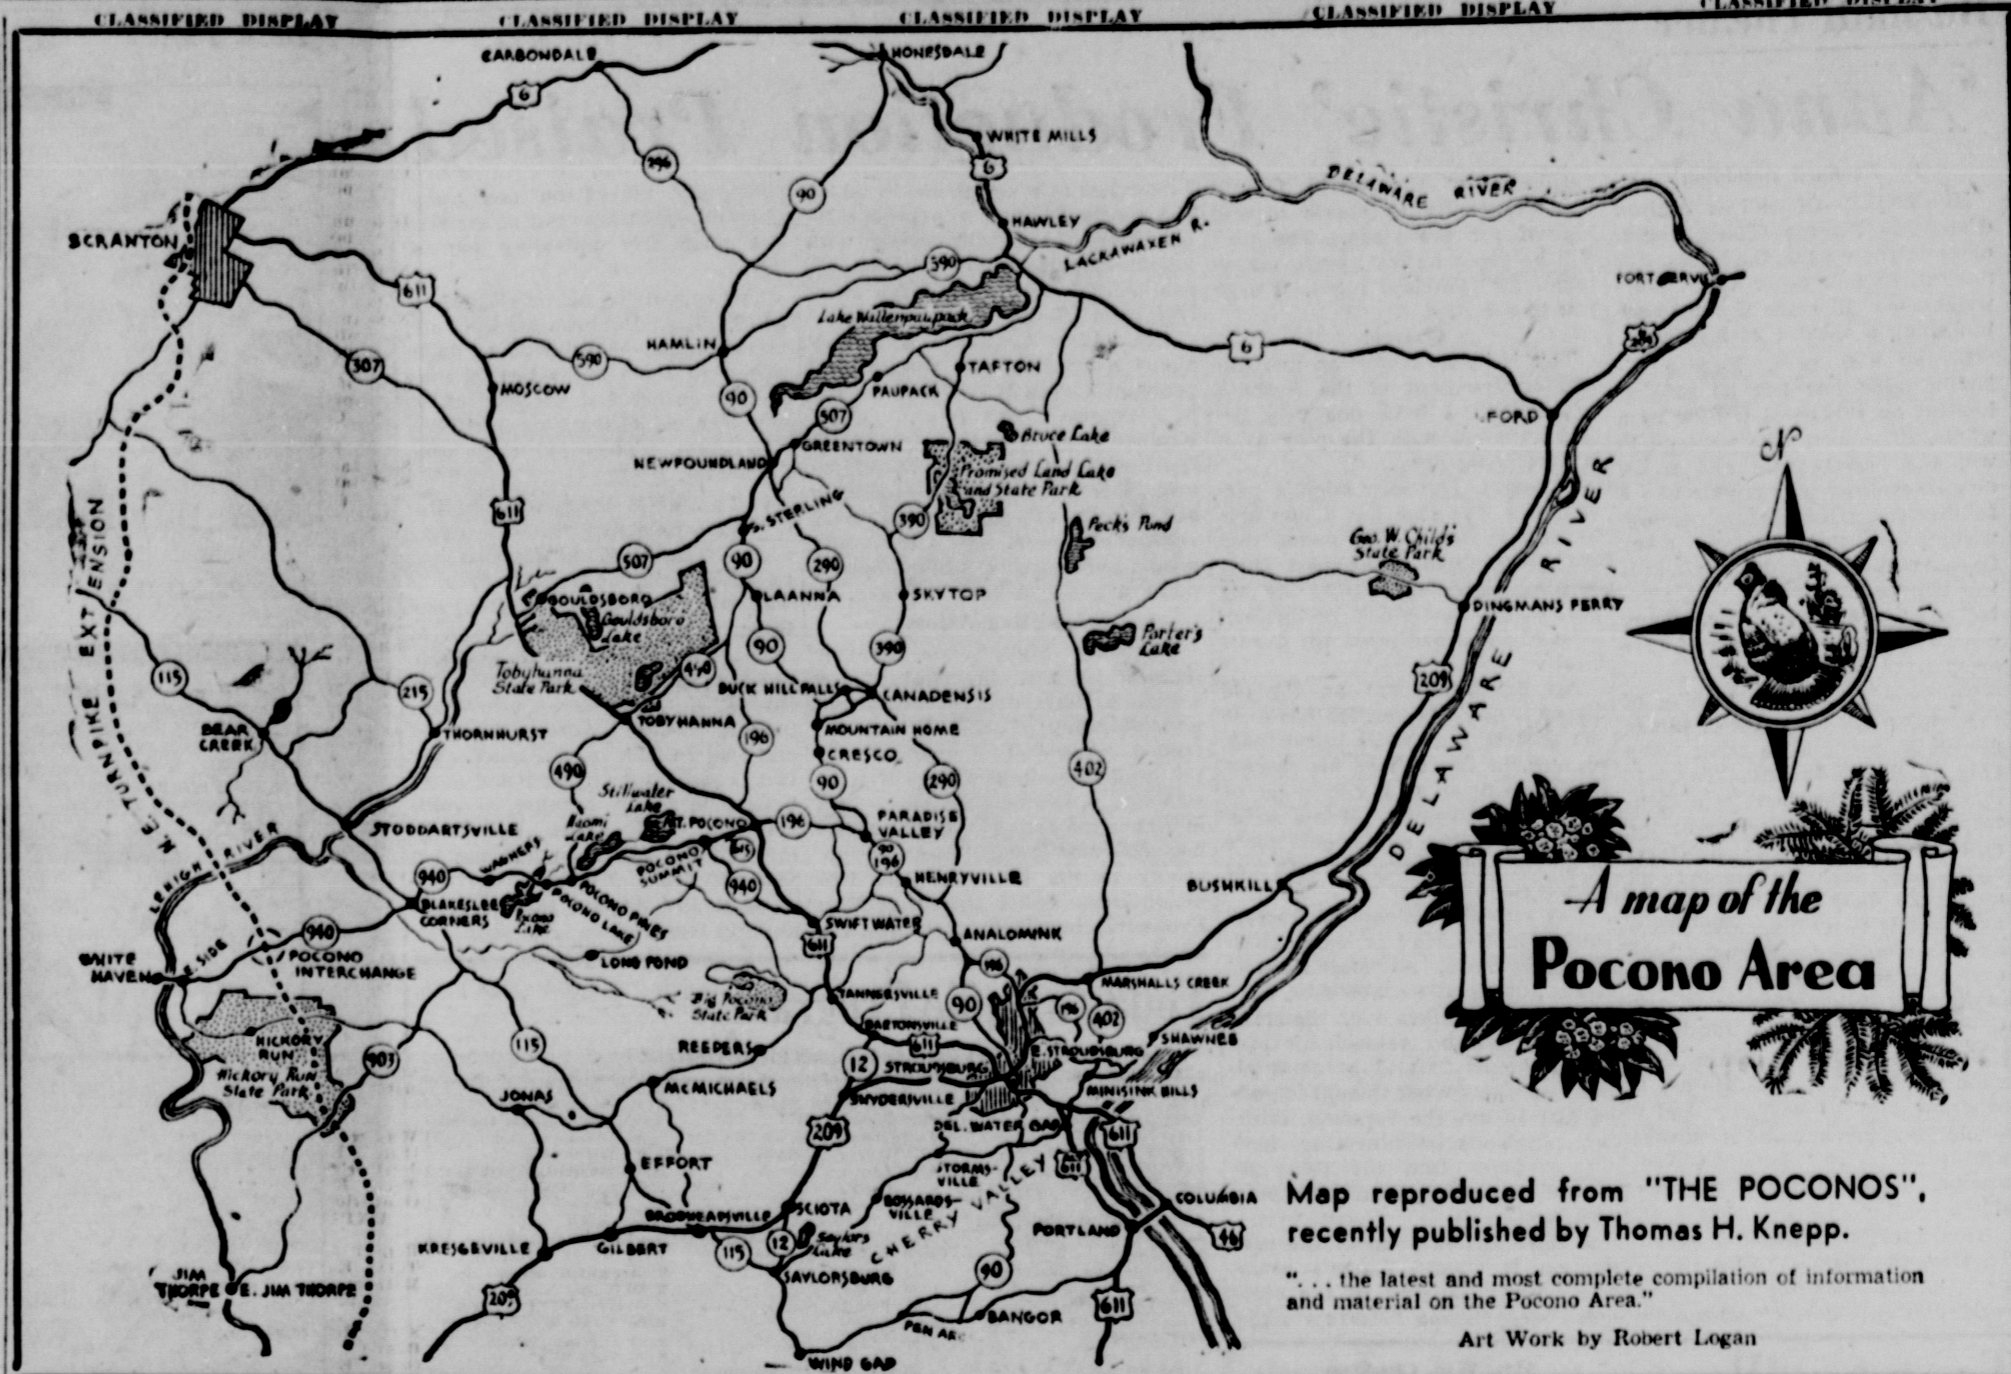

THE ART Gallery, in East Stroudsburg, above the Famous Department Store, is open to the public and to exhibitors daily. Included is the work of both local and visiting professionals and amateurs.

Folders, Maps

POCONO Mountains Vacation Bureau on Main St. in Stroudsburg has folders, maps, and information available to the visitor at no charge on many of the resorts and places of interest.

BUTTERMILK FALLS splashes over rocks near Minisink Hills. Here is a small churning mass of water that truly looks like buttermilk being spilled out of a churn. A number of rapids and still waters adds beauty to the stream Marshall's Creek winds its way through the Valley and finally reaches the water of the Delaware River.

HEAD DOWN — Following golf's primary rule, Roger Deihl, son of Bill Deihl of Stroudsburg, lays an iron shot close to the pin on Atsugi, Japan, golf course, during links competition in Navy League departmental play. Young Deihl is now serving his fourth year in the Navy and is stationed with the Commissary Department at Atsugi.

Patterson Hand Still Tender, Moore Fight Off To October

NEW YORK, Aug. 3 (P)—The heavyweight title fight between Archie Moore and Floyd Patterson won't be held until October at the earliest it was decided today after a panel of doctors examined fresh X-rays of Patterson's healing right hand.

Big Ten Set To Open Top Conference

CHICAGO, Aug. 3 (P)—The Big Ten tomorrow opens an important business session which may lead to a standardization of aid to athletes.

Faculty representatives and athletic directors will hear a report by a special committee which for seven months has been studying athletic practices in the conference.

Commissioner K. L. (Tug) Wilson has commented that the report, thoroughly covering recruiting and financial aid policy, is "extremely candid and in the main critical of present practices."

Although scheduled since the conference's May session, the meeting comes on the heels of a Look Magazine article this week which purported to expose irregular Big Ten athletic practices.

The magazine story alleged there are "full ride" scholarships for football players and a "loop-hole" Michigan found in the conference code to give unearned aid to all-around star Tom Kramer.

Big Ten officials have asserted the Look article distorted a legal policy of helping athletes the conference has followed for the past decade.

Bing To Keep Both Holdings Until Spring

NEW YORK, Aug. 3 (P)—Ford Frick, commissioner of baseball, said the matter of Bing Crosby's stock in two major league baseball clubs was "not one of immediate concern" and no announcement is expected soon.

Frick's office said the new owners of the Detroit Tigers do not take possession until Oct. 1. Crosby, who already held stock in the Pittsburgh Pirates, also is listed as a stockholder in the new Detroit combine.

Crosby, at his summer home in Hayden Lake, Idaho, said he expected to keep his holdings in both the Pirates and Tigers until next spring.

There is a baseball rule that a person can't hold a major portion of stock in two major league clubs. Earlier, Crosby's brother and business manager, Larry, said if Crosby has to sell stock in one of the clubs he would keep his connection with the Pirates.

Major All-Star At St. Louis

NEW YORK, Aug. 3 (P)—The 1957 major league All-Star Game today was formally awarded to Busch Stadium in St. Louis by a joint meeting of the National and American League directors, who also took steps to help the ailing minors.

No date was set for the game but traditionally the event takes place the second Tuesday in July. Discussions of the minor league structure occupied the major league bosses during most of the all-day session with steps taken to tackle the problem head-on next year.

A six-man committee, composed of three directors from the American League and three from the National, was set up to study "both financial and legislative aid for the minors" and give a report to the full body next year.

Olympic Head Protests IOC Action On Rule

CHICAGO, Aug. 3 (P)—The president of the U. S. Olympic Assn. yesterday registered a "very firm" protest with the International Olympic Committee against its startling anti-pro pledge for Olympic contestants.

K. L. (Tug) Wilson, the U. S. Olympic chief, said he did this in a conference with another Chicagoan, Avery Brundage, who is IOC president and apparently a prime supporter of the pledge.

The new rule, adopted in January but first given wide publicity Wednesday in an Australian dispatch, will require that all entries in the 1956 Olympic at Melbourne must sign this pledge:

"I, the undersigned, declare on my honor that I am and intend to remain an amateur and fulfill the conditions stipulated by the Olympic rules."

Brundage said he would issue a statement on the subject for release in tomorrow's papers and his only comment today was to assure Wilson that the pledge would not harass Olympic contestants who plan to become physical education teachers or coaches.

Seven physicians, including several orthopedic specialists, looked at the new prints and expressed unanimous agreement that Patterson "was not in this position as of today" to go through with a Sept. 25 bout with Moore, the light-heavyweight king and No. 1 heavyweight.

The decision was announced by Julius Helfand, chairman of the state athletic commission. Helfand said the doctors were optimistic, however, that the 21-year-old Brooklyn boxer would be able to fight in October. Another examination will be made in four weeks.

Patterson broke the fourth metacarpal (bone behind the knuckle) of his right hand while defeating Hurricane Jackson in a heavy-weight elimination bout June 8.

The injured hand was placed in a cast until July 12. When the cast was removed Patterson and Manager Gus D'Amato were confident that the big outdoor promotion could be held Sept. 18 or 25.

Floyd looked dejected when the announcement was made.

"I was positively sure it was all right," he said. "But the doctors know best. I've been in training and I used the hand, both on the heavy bag and in boxing. I didn't go all out, of course, but it felt all right. I'm going to keep on training so that I'll be ready to go when the doctors give the word."

Harry Markson, managing director of the International Boxing Club, also expressed disappointment.

"We still hope to put on the fight at the earliest possible date," said Markson. "If it's October or November we can put it on in either New York, Chicago or Miami."

Seat Secondary To Woman Fan

DAYTON, Ohio, Aug. 3 (P)—The Cincinnati Redlegs, a hot item with baseball fans hereabouts, are gaining more converts.

A Dayton Redleg ticket agency reports the following conversation: WOMAN—"I'd like two tickets to the Redlegs game Aug. 6."

AGENCY—"Between home and third or home and first?"

WOMAN—"Oh, I don't know anything about the streets down there. I just want two tickets for the baseball game."

NL Rescinds 2nd Game Rule

NEW YORK, Aug. 3 (P)—The National League today rescinded a rule that has prevented the starting of second games of doubleheaders after 6 p.m. on Sundays.

John Quinn of the Milwaukee Braves said the rule created a difficulty in the case of fans who purchased tickets for a doubleheader. Quinn said that often the first game might be delayed by rain, and that the second game might not get underway until six o'clock.

Teams still may not schedule Sunday night games but the new ruling will allow second games to start after 6 p.m., and to be played under lights.

Majors Offer $500,000 To Help Minors

NEW YORK, Aug. 3 (P)—A joint committee of the American and National Leagues recommended today that the majors "make available" $500,000 to help the minor leagues work out financial difficulties in 1957.

Shortly after the report was delivered, National League club owners and other officials said they were in complete sympathy with the plan but said it should be tabled until the exact requirements of the minor leagues could be determined.

George Trautman, president of the minor leagues, also expressed approval of the idea.

Profitable Meets

"These have been very profitable meetings for all concerned and there is some evidence that the majors are making a sympathetic approach to the problems of the minor leagues."

"I do not feel, however, that the minors should exist just to produce talent for the majors. The primary function of the minor leagues always has been and always will be to provide entertainment for the spectators."

The National League called for a "definitive report" on the minor league needs "as promptly as possible."

No Comment

American League officials, also meeting here, adjourned their session without commenting on the report of the joint committee, composed of three members from each major league.

The National League also recommended that the commissioner's office study and prepare a presentation of a program for a "National Baseball Day" with major league players participating in games in minor league cities for the purpose of raising funds for the minor leagues.

Named Head Of Villanova Sports Info

VILLANOVA, Pa., Aug. 3 (P)—Villanova University today announced the appointment of Harry C. Nash III as sports information director succeeding James F. Gallo.

Athletic Director Ambrose F. Dudley said Gallo resigned to accept a post with the Pennsylvania Power and Light Co. in Allentown.

Alumnus

Nash, a native of Portsmouth, Va., is a Villanova alumnus. He formerly worked with the Portsmouth Star and the Norfolk Va. Star-Ledger.

Nittany Matman To Aid At Clinic

UNIVERSITY PARK — Dave Adams, who'll co-captain the 1957 Penn State team, will lend a helping hand at Charlie Speidel's School for Wrestling opening Monday, August 13.

Speidel, veteran Lion coach, three years ago inaugurated this week-long school at which youngsters of junior high and high school age are acquainted with the fundamentals of the sport.

"Our purpose," says Speidel, "is to give each boy a sound basis upon which to build for the future. In wrestling, as in other sports, it's the fundamentals that count."

Brother Team

UNIVERSITY PARK — Two brothers, Dick and Jim DeLuca, of Monaca, Pa., will aspire to berths on the 1956 Penn State football team.

YOUR HOROSCOPE TODAY
By FRANCIS DRAKE

FOR SATURDAY, AUG. 4, 1956
March 21 to April 20 (Aries)—Excellent indications because you try to produce like results, remember to thank those responsible for favors. Plan to augment normal weekend activities with a party or social gathering.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus)—Swing along with a cheery manner, capable performance. Stars recommend close attention to essentials, a moratorium on carelessness. Think out program before putting it into action.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini)—Rays akin to those of Aries. Sidestep unwholly projects. Develop an interest in civic, state and national affairs.

June 22 to July 21 (Cancer)—Strengthen your efforts with your energies. Overstrain is as bad as laziness. Prepare for emergencies through a well rounded, intelligent program.

July 22 to August 23 (Leo)—Favorable signs, activity and action. You will be free to enjoy the weekend. Friends, family, neighbors, associates should share in your happiness, entertainment, recreation. Look ahead!

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo)—Be critical of the doers who are not the best of intentions. Don't waste time on petty details, unessential byplay. Be critical of the doers who are not the best of intentions. Don't waste time on petty details, unessential byplay.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra)—Step forth with a sturdy, sure stride and head resolutely toward your goal. Clean up odds and ends so that nothing is carried over to next week.

October 24 to November 23 (Scorpio)—Switch from hot temper to cool. Don't let personal irritation, arguments to mind, mize gains.

November 24 to December 23 (Sagittarius)—Make today one of your top ones. With proper perspective, cut out the unnecessary. Don't let your eager-ness outrun your common sense.

December 24 to January 23 (Capricorn)—Channel efforts in right direction. Be sure of objectives, then proceed without delay. Competition will be keen so be ready for tricky situations. Rely on experience, advice of loved ones.

January 24 to March 23 (Pisces)—Research, technical trades, construction, professionals slated for extra gain. Coordinate work with that of qualified associates. In p.m. if time permits, "RELAX."

YU FORN TODAY: Go meet opportunity and with FAITH, HOPE, and CHEER. You have an inherently cheerful disposition, even if it ever be marred by irritability, moodiness or hypersensitiveness. Your great reserve of energy and your loyal outlook on life should be properly developed so that you may follow the path to honor, success and happiness. Never associate with time wasters, don't let pride go unbridled, curb extremes, and cultivate your natural good humor, wit, and A.L. talents. Birthdate of: Percy B. Shelley, noted poet; Walter Pater, Eng. man of letters.

There is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your future. Count the letters in your first name. If there is 6 or more subtract 6. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Houses For Sale 65

OUR HOME

On Berwick Heights Road

East Stroudsburg

Is

FOR SALE!

We built this house just three and one-half years ago. Now we are moving to Oneonta, New York and we must sell it.

The house is located in one of the most desirable locations in the area. High up on a hill overlooking East Stroudsburg.

The setting is beautiful. The house nestles in a group of large trees and is on a lot 120 feet frontage and 150 feet deep.

As you enter the house you come into the large living room. At one end is a picture window which gives you a magnificent view. At the other end you'll see an attractive fireplace. Then the dining space, which is separated from the living room with a small trellis-effect.

The kitchen is one of the most modern. Wall and floor cabinets are ample. There's an automatic dishwasher in the sink, a breakfast bar and a mighty good Westinghouse electric range is part of the kitchen equipment.

Adjoining the kitchen is the utility room where the oil fired, forced hot air furnace is located. Also an 80 gallon electric water heater and double laundry tubs.

There are three good size bedrooms. Each of them have large closets with sliding doors.

An attractive bathroom with pale green fixtures, shower and tiled walls.

The living room, dining space and hall floors are covered with the best kind of wall to wall carpet. The attractive draw-drapes go with the house too.

There's a garage next to the house. A nice terrace in the rear of the house and one in the front. Both are connected with a walk all around the house.

The lot is fully landscaped. Quite a lot of lawn to mow but it looks nice.

You'll love living in this comfortable home just as we have.

It's quiet, away from traffic but only two blocks to the schools. Sort of country living right in town. All the benefits of living in the borough with the comforts of the country.

WE'D LIKE TO HAVE YOU SEE THIS HOUSE, AND WOULD BE GLAD TO SHOW IT TO YOU. IF YOU DESIRE ANY MORE INFORMATION PLEASE GET IN TOUCH WITH

Chess Club Holds Weekly Session

STROUDSBURG Chess Club's meeting on Thursday night was held at the Indian Queen Hotel.

The meeting was sparsely attended but was marked by a highly interesting and well contested series between Joseph Kushner, club champion, and Harold James, one of the chief runners-up. They played three games, Kushner taking the first two by a heavy artillery attack with his main pieces. The third game went to James who was the beneficiary of a highly complicated "Bishop's Ending".

Sidney Kushner, youngest member of the club, and William P. Deering, the oldest, played three games all of which were won by Deering. However, Bill lost one to Louis Mondelle.

Three Games

Kushner defeated A. J. Vlossek of Mount Pocono in three successive sessions, but Vlossek then went on to defeat James in two games.

Earl Weiss and Mondelle played two games, Weiss winning each session. Weiss then took on John Erickson winning one game. This was one of the trickiest, best played and hardest contests of the session.
